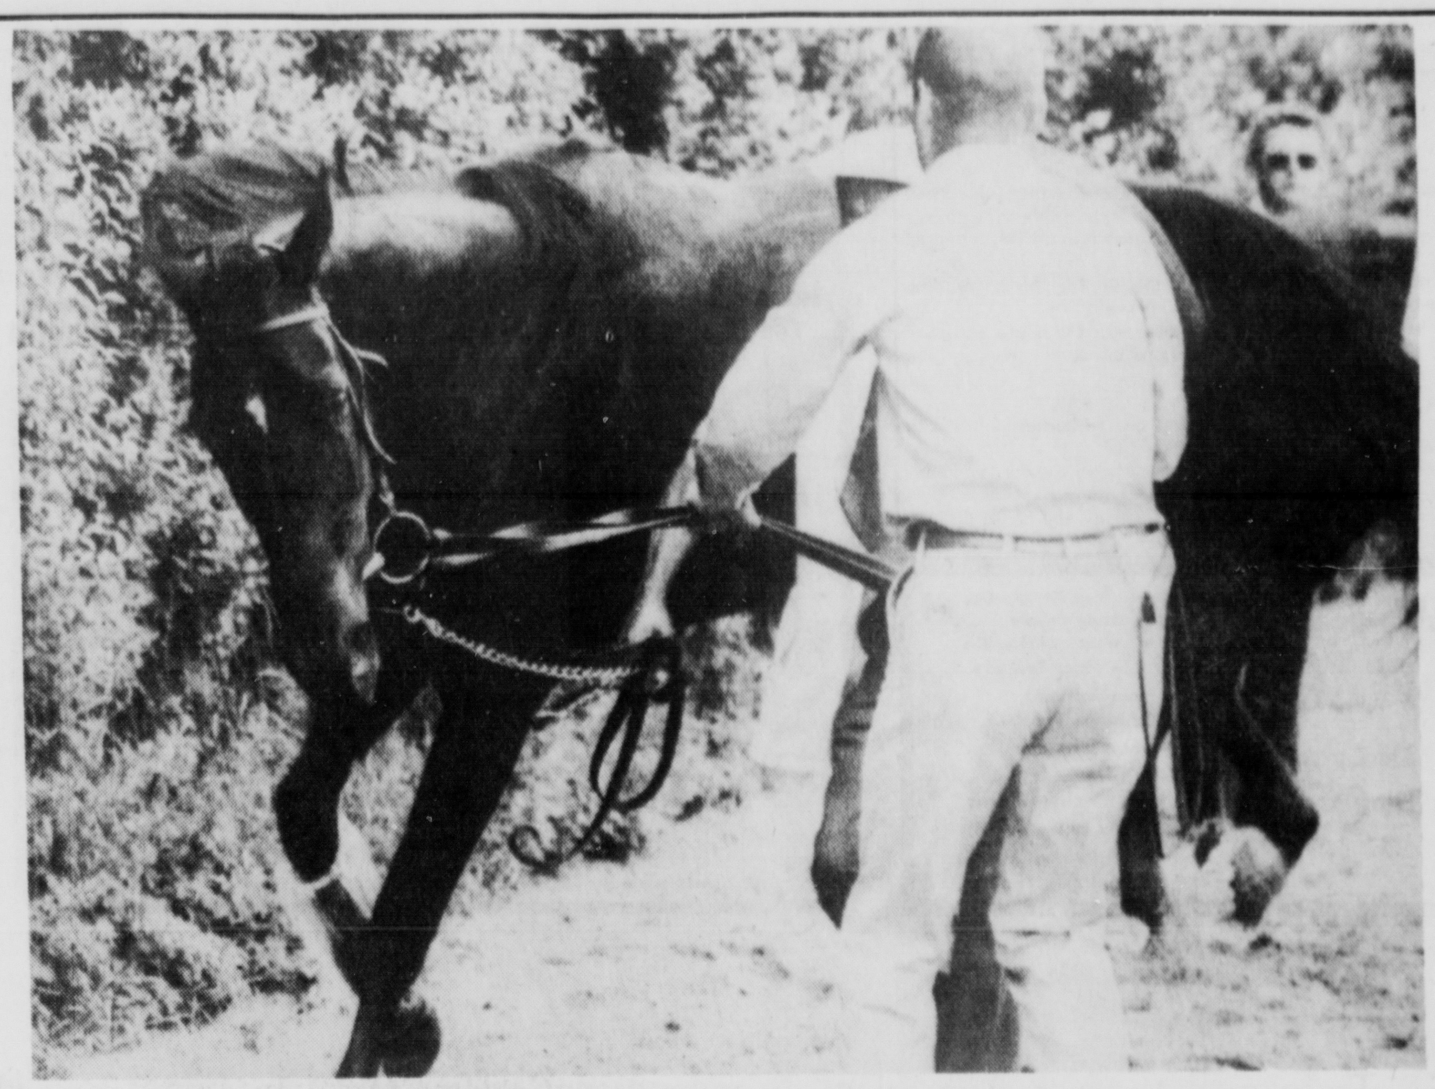
DR. MANUEL GILMAN APPLIES SPLINT



A SUPER RACE HORSE MOMENTS AFTER THE TRAGEDY

Ruffian . . . Her Spirit Killed Her

NEW YORK (UPI) — Her size, her speed, her spirit —all the things that made Ruffian a great race horse —conspired against her and claimed the life of the modern day Black Beauty early this morning.

After shattering two sesamoid bones in her right foreleg during her $350,000 match race with Foolish Pleasure at Belmont Park Sunday, Ruffian was destroyed despite a desperation attempt by six veterinarians to save her life with surgery.

A grim Dr. Alex Harthill made the sad announcement at 1:50 a.m. EDT.

"She has struggled and fought so hard coming out of the anesthesia that she broke the cast," he said.

"The cast has become an entangled mess, there is intensive swelling and hemorrhaging."

Ruffian's owner, Stuart A. Janney, who remained at the crowded vigil at the hospital until midnight, was informed of the development by phone and acquiesced with the doctors' opinion that further efforts to repair the damage would be futile.

Immediately thereafter, Ruffian was put away with an injection in her neck. She thrashed about for a few moments while lying on her side, then fell back.

That was the tragic end of the 3-year-old filly many trainers had called potentially the best thoroughbred race horse ever.

Ruffian, a tall, stately, coal black filly, had a charisma about her that is rare.

This was evident by the crowd that attended her last hours at the hospital. Most of the leading trainers in New York racing stopped by to inquire about last year's 2-year-old champion filly, who had won all 10 of her previous races before meeting Foolish Pleasure.

Even Leroy Jolley, who trains Foolish Pleasure, found the victory a hollow one, pacing his shed absent-mindedly after the race.

Although the doctors had attempted to be optimistic about Ruffian's chances, they had hinted she was a longshot for survival.

"We've put down a lot of horses that were not really as badly injured as she," said Dr. William O. Reed immediately after what he termed a successful operation.

But the doctors were wary, citing the fact Ruffian had rejected a cast last year when she suffered a hairline fracture to her right hind leg.

It was evident immediately after the injury, suffered after the first half mile of her scheduled mile and a quarter race against Foolish Pleasure, that Ruffian would never race again. But doctors were hopeful of saving the valuable daughter of Reviewer-Shenanigans for breeding purposes.

Israelis Raid Lebanon In Retaliatory Attacks

By United Press International

Israeli planes, gunboats and artillery devastated Palestinian guerrilla bases in southern Lebanon today in retaliation for a guerrilla bombing that took 14 lives in Jerusalem last Friday. The attack was followed by the heaviest artillery duels along the border in months.

Reports from Beirut said initial casualty reports in today's attacks put the toll at 13 persons killed and 37 wounded, 20 of them seriously. Beirut said the dead included a woman and two children.

A Palestinian guerrilla spokesman said the guerrillas inflicted "very heavy casualties" on the Israelis but Israel said all of its forces returned safetly.

An Israeli spokesman said Israeli commandos landed just south of the coastal town of Rashidiyeh, blew up at least three houses suspected of harboring guerrillas and fired on a jeep with at least three men in it, destroying it and killing all inside.

The new Israeli-Palestinian guerrilla clashes came at a time of intense diplomatic activity aimed at trying to reach an interim peace agreement on the Israeli-Egyptian front in the Sinai desert.

Israel said it had decided to wait at least another week on its decision whether to pullback from two passes in the Sinai as the price of an agreement. Israeli ambassador Simcha Dinitz departed for Washington today to seek additional clarification from Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

Lebanese reports said the Israelis shelled eight border villages and that one person was killed and two wounded in these attacks. Israel said Lebanon began this action by shelling two Israeli border villages with Soviet-made rockets.

The fighting was the heaviest along the southern frontier since last May when Lebanese and Israeli army units clashed in a daylong battle.

A Palestinian spokesman said the guerrillas shot down an Israeli Phantom jet in flames in the Nabatieh region near the Litani River about 11 miles inside the Lebanese border. The Israeli command denied the claim as "the usual phantasies."

The Israeli account of the action said Israeli navy gunboats and warplanes pounded the bases south of Rashidiyeh and just north of Tyre on the Lebanese coast. The military command said the boats launched the first attack and the planes struck at first light.

Israeli artillery fired at guerrilla positions in the rocky hills north of the Israeli-Lebanese frontier during the combined air and naval operation, the command said.

Remembering Their Leader

A long line of youthful campers passes in review during Sunday's celebration of the 25th anniversary of the death of Ukrainian freedom fighter Gen. Taras Chuprynka. Several thousand persons gathered at the Ukrainian American Youth Association estate near Ellenville over the weekend, participating in festivities and ceremonies honoring Gen. Chuprynka, who was killed in a battle with Soviet forces while trying to liberate Ukraine from Russian bondage. Many of those at the weekend gathering had fled the Ukraine after Soviet troops quelled the uprising. (Freeman photo)

Many Unresolved Issues As Congress Comes Back

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress returns from a 10-day July 4th recess still facing a long list of unresolved issues ranging from the CIA investigation to taxes and truck weights.

But the Senate is still stalled in debate over whether Republican Louis Wyman or Democrat John Durkin should be seated as the junior senator from New Hampshire.

The Senate was scheduled to convene today for more debate on the matter, with yet another attempt to halt a Republican filibuster set for Tuesday.

The House returns to work Tuesday to consider transferring control of the Elk Hills Naval Petroleum Reserve in California from the Navy to the Department of the Interior, paving the way for public access to the oil.

Between votes on the New Hampshire issue, the Select Senate Committee investigating U.S. intelligence agencies meets again in closed session Tuesday, still concentrating on alleged assassination plots hatched by the CIA.

Among the witnesses is retired Maj. Gen. Edward Lansdale, who has denied as "distortions" a report that former Attorney General Robert Kennedy ordered him in 1962 to have the CIA work out plans for "getting rid" of Cuban leader Fidel Castro.

Others scheduled to testify included former Secretary of State Dean Rusk; retired Gen. Maxwell Taylor, and McGeorge Bundy, special assistant for security affairs for Presidents John Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson.

While the Senate investigation continues, the House Rules Committee will consider a resolution aimed at dissolving a similar CIA committee which has been beset by differences among Democrats on the committee. The proposal would lead to creation of a new committee.

Treasury Secretary William Simon goes to the House Ways and Means Committee Tuesday to give his proposals for tax reform.

Reaching the floor this week are Department of Transportation proposals which will set off debate on whether maximum truck weights allowed on interstate highways should be reduced and whether British-French supersonic passenger aircraft should be allowed to land in the United States.

The flurry of congressional activity will be short-lived. A month-long recess is scheduled to start Aug. 1. House Assistant Democratic Leader John McFall told members before their return this week they will face "a full working schedule for the entire month of July."

Rangers, Helicopter In Daring Rescue

WITTENBERG

A 19-year-old Long Island girl, camping on Wittenberg Mountain Saturday, fell from a ledge and spent the night in pain with a broken back and ankle before she was rescued by forest rangers and a State Conservation Department helicopter which flew her to Benedictine Hospital Heliport in Kingston.

Anita Thewes of 457 South 15th Street, Lindenhurst, apparently wandered away from a lean-to campsite on the mountain shortly after dark Saturday night carrying the only flashlight she and her two companions had with them.

In her fall from the 12-foot ledge, the flashlight was reportedly damaged. Consequently when one of her companions, Albert Parisi of Long Island went for help he became lost as he worked his way down the mountain arriving at the Woodland Valley campsite below at about 4:30 a.m. The other companion, unidentified, remained at the site.

Forest rangers were then notified and a search and rescue team took the two-hour trek up the mountain with a litter to pick the injured girl up.

"She was a good trooper. She was tough," Forest Ranger Roger Blatter of West Hurley told the Freeman. Although obviously in pain, she failed to complain throughout the ordeal, he said.

A New York State Conservation Department helicopter out of Albany Airport was waiting at Woodland Valley when the rangers brought the young woman down the mountain and they whisked her away for the 15-minute trip to the hospital. By that time it was 9 a.m.

Benedictine Hospital had been alerted at 7:30 a.m. to expect the injured girl so that when she arrived, emergency room nurse Barbara Sidoli and Orderly Philip Rutherford were standing by at the heliport.

Treated for her injuries, later in the day she was reported in good enough condition to be transported by ambulance to Samaritan Hospital in Long Island in order to be nearer to her family.

Also taking part in the rescue effort and transportation were Hurley State Police Trooper D.J. Burton, Doyle Barger of the Benedictine Hospital Security Department.

Nixon Affidavit Tells Why He Wants Materials

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a personal court plea to keep his presidential materials confidential, Richard Nixon recalls how he wrote to families of Vietnam casualties, kept an intimate recorded diary and ideally sought "free-wheeling, candid and often blunt or critical advice."

Nixon laid out in detail his own view of his conduct of the presidency in a 22-page affidavit filed in U.S. District Court last week. It painted a picture of a mellow former President reminiscing about the personal side of his tenure.

Now in seclusion in San Clemente, Calif., Nixon is challenging the constitutionality of the law passed after he resigned that gives the federal government control over his presidential materials, including the White House tapes.

He said he discussed legislation and military action with his aides, other officials, members of Congress, representatives of organizations and private citizens in meetings in the Oval Office or his hideaway in the Executive Office Building.

"I found that such discussions were frequently more candid and consequently more valuable to me in my decision-making than those which came to me in other forms," Nixon said.

He said he sought "blunt assessments" of the foreign, domestic and political issues he faced.

"... it is my opinion that the confidentiality of a constitutional officeholder's communications with the members of his staff, and between him and other individuals must be preserved in order to assure the type of free-wheeling, candid and often blunt or critical advice that is so vital to the performance of his office," Nixon said.

"I could not have instituted dramatic changes in foreign policy had I received advice that was anything but unvarnished. The opening to China, our new relationship with Russia and new initiatives to dampen the powder keg in the Middle East are but a few of the available examples."

Government Crackdown in India

NEW DELHI, India (UPI) — The government has launched a nationwide crackdown against two dozen militant political parties a week before the Supreme Court rules on the political fate of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi.

Government officials said Sunday police have arrested several hundred persons in raids against the leaders of the outlawed political groups, seizing spears, swords and Maoist literature.

Opposition party sources said some 6,000 critics of Mrs. Gandhi have been arrested since the prime minister declared a state of emergency a week and a half ago.

Government officials said police seized seven human skulls as part of the drive against the Ananda Marga, a fanatic Hindu cult banned Friday along with 25 other militant organizations.

The officials reported five pro-Maoist Naxalite rebels and two police officers slain in 3½ days of fighting in the northeastern state of Bihar last week.

The Naxalites, leading landless workers in a revolt against rich farmers, were among the militant parties outlawed Friday by the government.

Mrs. Gandhi declared a state of emergency across India June 26, two weeks after being convicted of corrupt campaign practices in the 1971 parliamentary election.

She has appealed the conviction to the Supreme Court, which agreed to let her remain in office until the case is decided. The court is scheduled to take up her appeal July 14.

Officials said police found five human skulls at the Ananda Marga office in Jaipur, capital of Rajasthan, and two at its office in Cochin, port city of the southern Kerala State.

The Ananda Marga, a Hindu sect dedicated to the establishment of a religious state in India, usually collects skulls from cremation sites, and uses them as offerings to a female deity.

The group was founded 20 years ago by a former railroad employe now called Ananda Murti, or "bliss personified," by his followers. He has been in jail for several years on charges of murdering some of his recalcitrant devotees.

The sect has branches in the United States, Europe and Southeast Asia.

Besides the Ananda Marga and the Naxalites, the government also outlawed the Hindu militant Rashtriya Swayam Sevak Sangh, a paramilitary volunteer organization, and the Jamat-I-Islami, a Moslem paramilitary group.

'Let Her Rip'

MANTON, Mich. (UPI) — "Let her rip!"

Bruce Clason gave the order and the helicopter which had been holding the three-bedroom house 20 feet above the ground for four hours let go, plunking the house into a freshly mowed field.

From it emerged Clason, the president of a home building company, waving to the crowd.

He had tied himself to a mattress inside the house Saturday to prove both the sturdiness of his prefabricated homes and the feasiblility of helicopter transport.

The house and Clason appeared unharmed.

"I'm fine," Clason said. "My feet floated because I forgot to tie them down."

After the drop, Clason ordered the chopper to raise the house again — this time to 60 feet, and with no one inside.

The drop caused damage to the floor but the house did not collapse.

Mauna Loa Volcano Erupts Again

VOLCANO, Hawaii (UPI) — The Mauna Loa volcano, a sleeping giant for a quarter of a century, is spewing molten lava in a major eruption attracting thousands of spectators.

The world's largest volcano erupted Saturday night for the first time since 1950 on Hawaii's largest island. Two flows of molten lava cascaded down the slopes of the 13,680-foot summit, destroying everything in their path.

A road near a weather observatory was cut, but there was no immediate danger because the nearest community was some 30 miles away. The lava moved at the rate of several miles an hour toward the sea.

As fountains of lava shot hundreds of feet into the air with a roar, a caravan of cars full of eager tourists and residents headed for viewing spots within sight of Mauna Loa's northeast flank.

The saddle road, which winds along the plateau between Mauna Loa and an adjacent volcano, Mauna Kea, was opened to accommodate sightseers after officials decided no immediate danger was presented by the lava flows.

An eight-mile curtain of fire was created by the fissures which allowed lava to shoot from the mountaintop under tremendous pressure.

An eerie red glow could be seen from most areas of the island of Hawaii throughout the night because of the intense eruption.

Time Has Been Kind

Actress Myrna Loy, who is still fondly remembered for her starring role in the popular Thin Man movie series of the '30s and '40s, proves the years have smiled upon her as she poses near a youthful photograph of herself while making a guest appearance at Theatre 80, a small cinema on the lower east side in New York City that shows oldtime films. Issue Ultimatum

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — The left-wing kidnapers of an American army colonel have vowed to kill their hostage in 72 hours unless the U.S. and Lebanese governments bow to ransom demands.

The kidnapers, members of the Organization of Socialist Revolutionary Action, delivered the ultimatum Sunday night in a communique accompanied by pictures of Col. Ernest Morgan in captivity and tape recordings of his voice.

The leftists demanded the distribution of free food to victims of recent religious warfare in Beirut, an immediate end to the search for Morgan and the broadcast of the first two requests by the Voice of America.

The abductors said they "will not be responsible for the spy Morgan's life" if the United States and Lebanon turn down the demands.

The 43-year-old, Petersburgh, Va., officer was seized on the outskirts of Beirut June 29 soon after he arrived in the city on a stopover during a trip from Pakistan to Turkey.

The kidnapers delivered the communique to the Beirut office of Agence France Press and the French news agency turned it over to the U.S. embassy.

An embassy spokesman said the 72-hour deadline presumably went into effect upon the ultimatum's delivery, giving the embassy until Wednesday night to comply with the demands.

Police sources said it was the first time investigators had heard of the kidnap group.

Palestinian guerrilla groups have denied responsibility for the kidnaping, but the abduction took place at a traffic circle normally guarded by their commandos.

In Petersburg, the mother of Morgan said her son is "not the type of person who would panic at something like this."

"I'm sure he's staying calm and in total control of himself, just waiting to see what happens," Mrs. Evelyn Johnson said Sunday.

Victim of Shark Attack Vows He'll Surf Again

MELBOURNE, Fla. (UPI) — Bob Clark was only 50 feet from shore on his surfboard when a six-foot shark ripped into his foot.

The 16-year-old surfer pulled his foot loose —he is unsure whether the shark released him or the force of the surf saved him —and let the waves carry him to shore. He suffered nine severed tendons in his right foot.

"I'm still sort of frightened, but I think I'll be back in the ocean surfing again as soon as I'm able," Clark said from his bed in Brevard County Hospital after surgery.

The Cocoa Beach youth was spending his July 4 holiday off Indiatlantic Beach when the incident occurred.

"I was on my surfboard, only 50 feet from shore, when something grabbed my foot," said Clark, son of an employe of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. "I was pretty sure it was a shark.

"I never saw the shark," he said, "but one of my friends said he saw its fin."

A witness said the shark was six feet long.

"But I wasn't frightened then and I concentrated on staying on the surfboard and letting the waves carry me in," Clark said.

As he reached the water's edge, other surfers came to his aid.

A shark alert was issued, but the beach was open the remainder of the weekend and was in use by holiday swimmers.

Authorities said Clark was the first person attacked by a shark in Brevard County in 41 years. In 1934, an 11-year-old boy was killed by a shark at almost the same spot.

"I surf all the time, occasionally at Indiatlantic, but I've never had any trouble with sharks before, and I hope I never do again," Clark said.

Steps Toward Peace

The tandem meetings of President Ford with Egypt's Anwar Sadat and Israel's Yitzak Rabin clearly have set the stage for another attempt to negotiate the important first step toward a settlement in the Middle East. Mr. Rabin's comments on leaving Washington raise the hope that Secretary of State Henry Kissinger may soon be heading back to Jerusalem, Cairo and other Middle East capitals for another round of shuttle diplomacy.

Mr. Sadat and Mr. Rabin have got the message across that each expects the other to yield to some degree from the positions which led to a stalemate in the Kissinger mission last March. The cooling off period since then, and the recent talks with Mr. Ford, may have illuminated areas where such concessions can be made.

Not that making concessions would be easy for either party. Mr. Sadat may be faced with justifying a compromise in Egypt's diehard position that Israel must surrender every inch of Egyptian territory occupied since 1967 if there is to be any pledge of "nonbelligerency" toward Israel. On the other hand, Israel may be obliged to compromise on the position that her need for security precludes a complete withdrawal from the Sinai unless there are ironclad guarantees against a future attack from that direction.

Syria and Jordan may be aware that compromises are in the wind. Their well-timed announcement of a new agreement to confront Israel with their coordinated military forces along her eastern front is a reminder that an Egypt-Israeli settlement would not mean that they are any less determined to press the issue of Israeli occupation of Jerusalem, the Golan Heights and the West Bank.

While the dogs of war at times seem to be straining at their leash in the Middle East, there is a compelling force at work to enhance the possibilities for peace. It is simply that no one at this point could win anything if there is another war. Israel and her neighbors have the firepower to leave their respective cities and countryside in rubble. The Arab world as a whole would risk the destruction of its greatest economic asset — its oil industry.

Peace in the Middle East is essential if the energy supply for Western Europe is to be uninterrupted. The United States of America would find itself in an immediate energy crisis if its Arab oil supplies were cut off. Even the Soviet Union, the perennial mischief-maker in the Middle East, can see that its whole investment in detente would go down the drain if an Arab-Israeli war brought on a confrontation of the superpowers.

Who could profit by war in the Middle East? No one at all. In such circumstances, Israel and Egypt probably see no choice but to seize the present opportunity to lay the firs t stepping-stone toward peace.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Understaffing the Interior Department

By Jack Anderson with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — Interior Department documents, meant for official eyes only, tell a grim story of the sputtering effort to save America's fish and wildlife from exploitation.

From confidential field reports, here are the appalling details:

SACRAMENTO: "All facets of our enforcement program have been reduced and hampered by inadequate funding . . . For the better part of the year, only one agent has been on board in the vast Los Angeles complex."

DENVER: "Enforcement operations have been reduced considerably. No field patrol during spring migration. Undercover projects have been almost completely halted." Not a single agent, the report adds, has been assigned to enforce the conservation laws in the entire state of Wyoming.

NEW ORLEANS: "Alligator poaching, selling and exporting is very prevalent throughout South Louisiana . . . (Yet) the commercial activity of the endangered alligator is going almost unchecked." Only one agent is assigned to cover the New Orleans port, including the airport, 20 miles of ship docks and several outlying areas.

NASHVILLE: "All on-going criminal investigations are being halted. We have been unable to respond to requests from Tennessee, Kentucky and North Carolina on serious complaints involving transportation and sale of white tail deer. We have documented 126 destructive hunting sites in North and South Carolina on which we have been unable to make even a token investigation."

BALTIMORE: From December 27, 1974, to January 15, 1975, "law enforcement operations were at a complete standstill . . . in Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, Virginia, West Virginia and the District of Columbia."

ANCHORAGE: Because of limited funds, the Anchorage office could "make only a token enforcement effort."

BOSTON: Two aircraft, assigned to patrol the northeast region, were grounded and two were restricted because of the tight budget.

ALBUQUERQUE: The "drastically" reduced enforcement effort in the southwest region has resulted in "an increasing number of illegal consumptive uses of wildlife."

The documents in our possession show clearly that the conservation laws aren't being properly enforced. These documents were demanded last February, incidentally, by House Conservation Chairman Robert Leggett, D-Calif. But for political reasons, the Interior Department has held them up.

A response to his request was drafted and passed up the chain of command. Attached to it was this handwritten memo: "The narrative part that is attached 'tells-it-like-it-is' but probably should not go out."

PRESIDENTIAL ODDS: Jimmy the Greek Snyder, the Las Vegas oddsma ker who calculates the political odds exclusively for us, rates a Gerald Ford-Nelson Rockefeller ticket as the favorite over every possible Democratic combination except one.

The Greek claims a Hubert Humphrey-Ted Kennedy ticked would be the best bet for the Democrats and would stand a 50-50 chance of beating the incumbents.

By Jimmy's odds, Kennedy would strengthen the ticket more as a vice president than as a presidential candidate. The public will look more carefully at the vice president candidate, Jimmy predicts, because of the controversy surrounding the office in the last few years. Therefore, the vice presidential choice will affect the odds dramatically.

Taking the presidential contenders alone, the Greek rates Ford as an 8 to 5 favorite over Senator Henry "Scoop" Jackson, D-Wash., 9 to 5 over Senator Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., 2 to 1 over Senator Ted Kennedy, D-Mass., and 12 to 5 over Alabama's Governor George Wallace.

PENTAGON DISCRIMINATION: Twenty congressmen, led by Rep. Frank Annunzio, D-Ill., have charged in a sharp letter to Defense Secretary James Schlesinger that the Pentagon "is indulging in outright racial and possibly religious prejudice" in officer promotions.

"The ethnical names so conspicuously missing from the promotion recommendations," the congressmen note, "appear in profusion in the casualty lists."

The lawmakers demand a Pentagon review of promotion lists to determine the extent of discrimination against minorities, particularly men of Polish and Italian extraction. The situation, they write, requires "immediate correction."

CIA EXPOSE: As we were writing a few days ago about the government's efforts to obstruct publication of Philip Agee's "Inside the Company: CIA Diary," in this country, a New York publisher was rushing the first copies of the book to the book stores.

Ex-CIA agent Agee, meanwhile, is trying to get the Justice Department to promise not to prosecute him so he can return to the United States and promote his book.

'HOW ABOUT A LITTLE HELP?'

Inside Report

Malaysia . . . Another Domino Going

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia — Alarming intensification of Malaysian jungle guerrilla warfare by Communist insurgents, particularly since the Indochina collapse, points to the futility of seeking internal security through friendship with Peking.

In truth, Malaysia's establishing diplomatic relations with Communist China a year ago has greatly increased — not inhibited — Peking-oriented insurgency. Spreading down from the northern border with Thailand into central Malaysia, insurgents now are more formidable than at any time since Communist guerrillas were totally eliminated in this then-British colony in 1960. Malaysia, secure only yesterday, today is second to Thailand among Southeast Asia's targets for Communist subversion.

This suggests not only the truth of the domino theory but the limits of neutralist diplomacy as protection against revolutionary Communism. What is needed here is far greater counter-insurgency effort, both in easing Chinese-Malay racial tensions and in improving inadequate military operations. But these essential steps may be held back by the lingering delusion of what neutralism accomplsihes.

Neutralism long had been preached by Tun Abdul Razak bin Hussein before becoming prime minister in 1970. Upon assuming power, he replaced Malaysia's strongly pro-Western stance with "equidistance" from the great powers. This was climaxed by his trip to Peking in May 1974, when Chinese leaders promised not to interfere in Malaysia's internal affairs.

Nothing changed. Clandestine Communist radio broadcasts are still beamed at Malaysia from Yunan province, China. Chin Peng fabled Communist guerrilla leader of the 1950s, directs Malaysian insurgents from Peking. Counter-insurgency experts here see a Chinese grand design: just as Richard M. Nixon's 1972 kowtowing in Peking was followed by a Communist offensive in Vietnam, so Razak's 1974 visit was followed by intensified Malaysian insurgency. China is restraining Malaysian insurgents no more than it did North Vietnam's legions.

This cold reality was brought home last month when Radio Peking broadcast anniversary greetings to the Malayan Communist party, then busily murdering police inspectors here. A stunned Razak summoned the Chinese ambassador, informing him that Peking had broken its promise of non-interference. When the ambassador was unrepentant and unresponsive, the prime minister formally protested to Peking. That, too, went unanswered.

All this was kept out of the controlled Kuala Lumpur press until Razak revealed his protest at the recent convention of Malaysia's ruling party which he heads. But he remains chary about offending Peking. In an interview, he to ld us the Peking broadcast "might have been a misunderstanding" and added (contrary to fact) that the clandestine radio in Yunan was no longer broadcasting. To some critical Malaysians, the prime minister remains committed to a bankrupt policy.

Furthermore, Mohammed Ghazali Shafie, the dynamic home minister, has so often proclaimed the doom of the insurgency that experts here fear he might believe it. One day after Ghazali recently predicted "doom in despair and lingering death" for insurgents, a guerrilla ambush killed 14 — including seven members of Malaysia's famed Police Field Forces.

Police inspectors specializing in counter-insurgency are being murdered with depressing regularity. Guerrilla raids have delayed completion of Malaysia's East-West Highway for four years, until 1981. Guerrillas are slowly spreading southward, in coordination with urban terrorists around Kuala Lumpur.

Western experts believe the Malaysian problem is basically a military effort that falls short in both quantity and quality. Whereas 100,000 British Commonwealth troops were needed to defeat the olf Malaysian insurgency which never exceeded 10,000 guerrillas, the odds are much shorter today: 5,000 Malaysian troops plus three companies of Police Field Forces against 2,000-plus insurgents. The undermanned government forces play into the guerrillas' hands by sticking to the roads and avoiding pursuit into the jungle.

Supporting the insurgency is Malaysia's unadmitted but unrelenting race problem: politically dominant Malays, comprising a little less than half the population, vs. the Chinese "minority," about half the population possessing over 85 percent of the wealth. A "new economic program" of preference for the Malays is building more dissatisfaction among poor Chinese, the main source of insurgent recruitment.

There are some signs of official awakening to reality. Razak did not minimize the insurgency to us, asserting "it's gone on and on for a long time, . . . wasting our energy and resources and everything else." He has publicly ordered force increases for both army and police.

An even clearer sign: the German H-33 rifle, which Malaysian soldiers say jams in combat, was purchased despite inferior test performances against the American M-16 — because of bribery, anti-Americanism or possibly both. Without admitting error, the government now is scrapping the German rifles and purchasing the M-16.

Nevertheless, neutralist rhetoric persists. Tun Razak told us of deep worries about American weapons abandoned in Vietnam falling into the "wrong hands" who would deliver them to the insurgents. The hands of the North Vietnamese? Oh, no, he said, "gun-runners' hands; that is our main worry." The notion that careful handling of Peking and Hanoi can restrain jungle insurgents dies hard in Southeast Asia.

Horsing Around With Horses

The Horseplayer's prayer is: "Dear God, let me break even. I need the money." I like to bet a few bob on a horse race, but I am conscious of the sad truth that you can get 25,000 people to watch eight horses run, but you can't get eight horses to watch 25,000 people run.

History shows that men staged horse races as far back as 1400 B.C. My old man, when he was young, bet $20 on a "sure thing" given to him by a chief of police who had the top of one shoe flapping. He lost.

When he was older, I took him to Monmouth Park and he wouldn't bet. "Ever hear of a sore loser?" he said, extending his hand. "Say hello to a poor winner." I gave him the binoculars and he studied the crowd. In alarm, he said: "Isn't anybody working?"

The oldest race run today is the Lanark Silver Bell in Scotland. It was sponsored by William Lion in A.D. 1200. The Longest of all race courses is the Beacon, at Newmarket, England — 4 miles and 397 yards long.

In New Delhi, India, my friends Wally Lehmann and Gene Kroll visited a track where the poor eat anything that runs out of the money. The two sharpshooters couldn't figure the mangy nags, so Wally went to the paddock and studied the inside of the horses' ankles.

He thought that if the hair was off, the horse rubbed his ankles. He found three with fur. "Two, six and eight," he yelled to Kroll. Gene asked for a ticket on 2, 6 and 8.

The equines ran the wrong way and disappeared in trees at the far end of the track in a cloud of elephant dust. The win ticket was posted on a vertical board: "2, 6 and 8." They ran to the payoff window like thieves. The Hindu behind the window appeared to be stunned.

He called the manager. This man studied the ticket. In broad British accents, he said: "Of course you realize the track does not carry this much money. I will send a messenger to the bank."

They stuffed India bank notes down their pants and in their shirt collars. When they returned to the Ashoka Hotel, I reminded them that they had signed a declaration of how much currency they had when they arrived. Their trifecta made the two sports Queen for a Day.

They bought everything except the ivory tusks on the headwaiter.

When my wife and I go to a track we take with us whatever we can afford to lose. No more. She gets all the tipsheets and adds up "points" for each nag.

She learns that the favorite horse is going off at one-to-three, so Kelly bets on the jockey. The only way he can win is to get off the horse and run.

In effect, we bet against each other. My system is mathematical, something no self-respecting horse will study. I check the Racing Form to find out the speed of each entry at this particular distance.

Then I cross out the favorite, first because he will not pay enough. Second because the favorites win only one-third of the time. My bundle goes on the horse who should be breathing on the favorite's rump.

To my sorrow, I found that many thoroughbreds are satisfied to breathe. A long time ago, a trainer named a colt after me. I bet "Jim Bishop" all over the East. He won a few as a two-year-old. At three, he was the only horse in the land of the free with generalized arthritis.

My wish for him is that he hurts all over when he is romancing a brood mare. A dozen bagels should grow on his brain. He should be running with greyhounds.

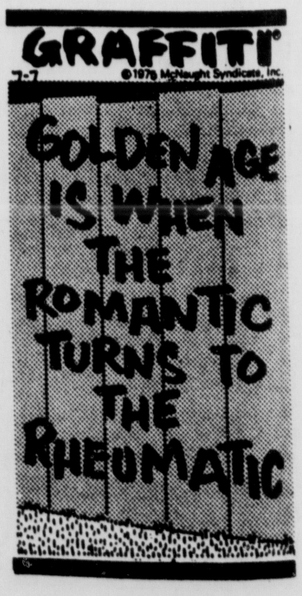
I have friends who claim to be winners over a long period of time, but I do not believe them. The Lady in Red came down from Connecticut once a year to bet $15,000 on one horse, and odds on favorite, to show.

She took $1,500 winnings home, and nobdoy saw her until the next year. She blew a couple and disappeared. The lady may be home, sulking and dining on cracked oats and bran muffins.

Big John was a close friend of his chief of police. My old man was heavy on dignity and personal appearance. He stood at the window in police headquarters and was destroyed watching the chief get out of a chauffeured limousine with the left shoe flapping loose in the breeze.

"Chief," he said one morning, "you're a disgrace to the department with that shoe." The chief looked at it. "Okay," he said softly. "Do me a favor, John. Go down to the shoe store and see if you can get one left shoe to match the other one."

That man was a true horseplayer. At his funeral, it was six, two and even he'd be out of the money going through the cemetery gate . . .



Gardiner Tragedy Was Lone Ulster County Holiday Fatality

GARDINER — The car in which a young Poughkeepsie man died late Saturday on Route 44-55 was taking a curve too fast, according to state police.

The driver remained today in critical condition at Vassar Brothers Hospital, Poughkeepsie with head and internal injuries.

Nationwide, there were 460 traffic deaths during the three-day holiday weekend. There were 20 in New York State said UPI.

State police at Highland reported that passenger Charles Burlingame, 22, of 20 Lincoln Avenue, Poughkeepsie died at 9:33 p.m., Saturday, about two hours after the accident. He suffered from "massive internal injuries," said police.

The fatality was the only recorded accidental death in Ulster County for the long weekend. Nearby tragedies were a fatal auto accident in Greene County and a drowning in Columbia County Saturday.

John R. Brink, 19, of 336 Church Street, Poughkeepsie was driving his car south on 44-55 when he entered the curve in the Town of Gardiner, said police. He was an "inexperienced driver," they said, driving on a learner's permit. They said he started to skid, overcorrected the steering wheel and applied his brakes, swung off the road into a culvert, up an embankment, and rolled over.

Brink remains in critical condition. A second passenger Richard Joeris of Abilene, Tex. received slight injuries and was released from the hospital after treatment, said police. The victims were transported by Shawangunk Ambulance and New Paltz Rescue Squad. Investigator George Rebban and trooper R.W. Murphy investigated the accident.

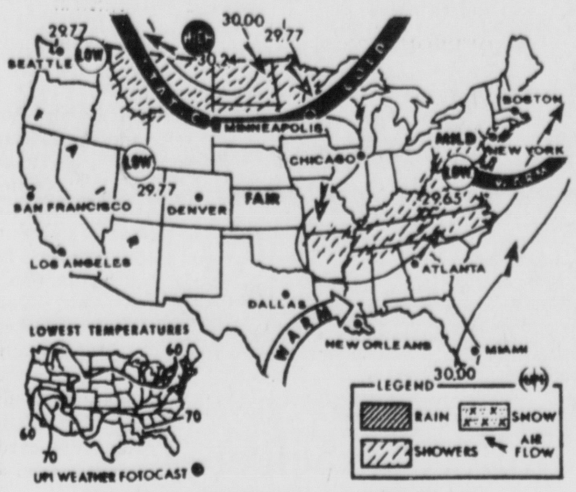
The traffic toll in New York State for the holiday fell well below the rate of recent years, according to UPI. The 78-hour stretch began at 6 p.m., Thursday and ended at midnight, Sunday.

Some statistics from the recent past show traffic accidents in 1969, 70, and 71 claiming 20, 31, and 31 lives respectively. Several states fared worse than New York this year. Texas reported 42 traffic deaths, California 33, Florida 22, and Illinois 21. Alabama and Georgia had 18 each, and Kentucky 16.

There were several minor personal injury accidents in the county Sunday. A family of three, just arrived from Argentina on their way to Ontario, was sidetracked on the Thruway just north of Saugerties Sunday morning when their car was struck in the rear and forced through guard rails into the opposite lane. The other car reportedly kept on going. Treated and released at Benedictine Hospital were Alberto Sly, his wife Edith, and 12-year-old daughter Patricia.

Richard Anderson of Gardiner, 19, and his friend Margaret Bragkle of New Paltz, were treated at Benedictine Sunday after Anderson's motorcycle was involved in an accident in Rosendale.

And 14-year-old Joseph Denner of 12 Court Street, Kingston received treatment at Kingston Hospital Sunday night after his bicycle crashed at Delaware Avenue and Crane Street in the city.



For Period Ending 7 a.m. EST Tuesday.

Tonight will find showers and thunderstorms over the northern Rockies, the northern Plains, the upper Mississippi valley and from northern Arkansas, northeastward thru the Tennessee valley, the mid Atlantic states and portions of the Northeast. KKK Rally 'Sputters Out'

SHERBURNE, N.Y. (UPI) — A planned cross burning sputtered out Sunday night when the water-soaked structure failed to ignite as the Ku Klux Klan concluded a two-day organizational meeting in a remote area near this Central New York community.

With about 100 persons and 11 robed or hooded Klansmen watching, the oil-soaked, cloth-wrapped cross, which had been drenched by a heavy rain about three hours before the ceremony, failed to ignite, sputtering weakly up to the cross arms about 25 feet above the ground.

Six persons were arrested on minor charges, including four supporters of Dr. Robert Pritchard, organizer of the Pan American Association and a critic of the KKK gathering. The four were issued tickets ordering them to appear in the Town of Columbus court July 18 to answer criminal trespass charges.

Two other persons were arrested for carrying weapons. They were not immediately identified.

Chenango County Sheriff Joseph Benenati, whose deputies patrolled the area between Sherburne and New Berlin in the northeastern part of the county about 35 miles south of Utica, said of the two-day rally:

"There weren't nearly the number of poeple I expected and there were fewer incidents than I expected."

On Saturday, aboout 50 persons, many of them newsmen, watched the ceremonies, in which klansmen —also 11 — marched about the cross as it flamed in the night.

Sunday's crowd was about twice as large and observers said it included many children and young persons. Of the Klansmen, five were in full regalia and six were wearing only hoods concealing their faces.

Charles Holland, a guard at the state prison at Wallkill who was active in organizing the rally, spoke briefly Sunday night, repeating Klan lore from printed material. He refused to be interviewed or make any comments to newsmen. On Saturday night, Holland, had said he was "disappointed" with the turnout.

LIFE TODAY

Reception and Tea at Senior Residence

A reception and tea was given recently at the Hudson Valley Senior Residence by the members of the Board of Managers, for the residents. This occasion marked the close of many activities for the summer.

A newly-formed recreation committee, consisting of Mrs. S. James Matthews, Mrs. John Breithaupt, Mrs. John Shults, Mrs. George Bushnell and Miss Rose Feeney, has been active in many ways, motivating participation in handicrafts, bingo parties, and other events.

Mrs. Alice Valentine, for the past two years an instructor in crafts at Ulster County Community College, has been conducting classes for the residents on Wednesday nights. Projects include waste baskets, mobiles, decorated candles, candle holders, napkin rings and floral displays. Some of the articles made in these classes will be available for sale at the Home's annual Donation Day in October. Mrs. Valentine was assisted in this work by Mrs. John Breithaupt.

Mrs. Matthews conducted weekly game parties and homemade ice cream parties. A strawberry festival also was held. An open house was held one evening and many of the residents invited their friends and relatives to attend. Other activities at the residence include hymn singing and religious services by the local ministry.

Paltz Ballerina Selected To Perform at SPA

By Dorothy A. Narel

Sarah Garlick of New Paltz is among 32 young dancers chosen to perform with the New York City Ballet during the company's 10th summer season at the Saratoga Performing Arts Center in Saratoga Springs, N.Y.

Sarah will dance in the company's production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" and "Coppelia."

LIFE has lerned that more than 200 dancers auditioned for roles with the company. Selection was made by David Richardson, a member of the New York City Ballet. Those who auditioned were required to be aged 9-12, not more than five feet tall and have had at least two years of formal ballet training.

The NYCB summer season will open with its production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream," which will run July 9-12. "Coppelia," which in its present choreographic setting by George Balanchine was given its world premiere at SPAC last summer, will be danced July 15, 19 (matinee) 23, 24, 31 and August 2 (matinee.)

Sarah, the 10 year old daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Peter Garlick of 37 Center Street, New Paltz, enters the fifth grade in September at the Campus School. She was five years old when she started pre-ballet classes and for the last three years has been studying regular ballet.

The youthful dancer has taken all her dancing instruction at the New Paltz School of Ballet and knows all the basic steps. Fred DeMayo, school director, says this is Sarah's first year 'on pointe.'

The New Paltz ballet dancer also studies two instruments — piano and violin. She has an older brother, Nicholas, age 13, who also attends the New Paltz Campus School, and her father is Professor of Economics in the African Studies Department at SUNY, New Paltz.

Asked about her "big chance," Sarah said: "I'm glad that I got it."

On June 30th, Sarah went into rehearsals for "Midsummer Night's Dream." She will be required to rehearse once a day for 10 days plus a dress rehearsal. Six performances of the ballet will be given. Rehearsals have not been scheduled as yet for "Coppelia."

It looks like the Garlicks are going to be ultra busy these days.

'Man Is a Mosaic' Suggested Theme For 1976 Festival

"Man is a Mosaic" has been suggested as the theme for a shoreside festival to be held while the New York State Bicentennail Barge is docked in Kingston a year from now.

Festival plans are being developed by a committee organized at a meeting called by Edward Levine, chairman of the Kingston Bicentennial Commission. The barge, containing an exhibit devoted to the social and cultural history of Revolutionary New York, will tie up in the Rondout Creek at the foot of Broadway June 25 through 27, 1976.

The "Mosiac" theme was suggested by the Rev. John H. Gilmore, chairman of the Kingston Human Rights Commission. He noted that the cultural contributions of all ethnic groups make up the composite picture of our community, state and nation.

Area ethnic clubs and organizations could participate with exhibits or demonstrations of native foods, costumes, arts and crafts, or native dances, music or pageants, he said.

"We are particularly interested in stressing youth participation in this project as we feel that it is vital for them to learn more about each other. It would, we feel, bring about better understanding and tolerance," he said.

Harry Rigby Jr., a member of the New York State American Revolution Bicentennial Commission, told those attending the recent meeting at the John A. Coleman High School that it has been estimated that at least 20,000 persons will visit the barge during its three-day stay in Kingston.

As a prerequisite, the State Commission requires the host county to provide a shoreside festival preferably with ethnic emphasis. No admission charge may be made.

A committee must be formed and preliminary plans reported to the State Commission by August 1 of this year. Named to the committee were: Rev. Mr. Gilmore and Ms. Terri F. Jackson of the Human Rights Commission; James P. Gold, Senate House Museum; Alan Herbert, SUNY College at New Paltz; Edgar C. Leaycraft, Woodstock Bicentennial Commission; Ernest Rowe, American Legion Post 150 Margaret J. Simons, Black youth Appreciation Society, and John R. Warren, Hurley Heritage Society. .

In Week's Run at the Playhouse

Etain O'Malley plays Ruth Condomine in Noel Coward's comedy about the occult, "Blithe Spirit," which opens a week's run at the Woodstock Playhouse Wednesday, July 9. "Blithe Spirit," will be staged Wednesday through Saturday nights at 8:30 and on Sunday at 7 o'clock. Matinees are presented Wednesday and Saturday at 2:30.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. St. Paul of 45 Sylvester Street, Kingston, recently celebrated their 35th wedding anniversary with a surprise smorgasbord at Trinity United Methodist Church hall in Kingston. Mr. and Mrs. St. Paul were married June 29, 1940 at Trinity Methodist Church, Kingston, by Rev. Fred Deming, now deceased. Their attendants were Mrs. Lillian (St. Paul) Boss of Kingston and the late Frank Rittie, East Kingston. Mr. St. Paul is self-employed body and fender mechanic, operating the Lincoln Auto Body Shop, Town of Ulster. The couple has two grandchildren: Lori Jean and Jill Danielle St. Paul. Relatives and friends from throughout the country as well as from the Kingston area attended the gala.

Kipsbergen Day Saturday In Rhinecliff

A Day in Old Kipsbergen" — with parade, sales, exhibits and a concert — will be celebrated in Rhinecliff Saturday, July 12, under the sponsorship of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Rhinecliff Volunteer Fire Company.

The day, featuring residents in colonial-styled costumes, will be a reminder of early times when Rhinecliff was called Kipsbergen after the founding brother Kip-Hendrick and Jacob — who were Dutch settlers in the mid-17th Century.

Kipsbergen Day will be launched at 10 a.m. with a parade led by the Fyfe and Drum Corps with the route around the memorial of Rhinecliff.

To end the day on a high note, the Legion Band has been invited to present a concert starting at 7:30 o'clock on the river bank, Grinell and William Streets.

But before this "Day in Old Kipsbergen" finale, there will be plenty of things to do including sales of bakery and homemade baked goods, refreshments, arts and crafts; a quilt exhibition of squares made by Rhinecliff residents at the Morton Memorial House in addition to a display of an antique quilt loaned by local residents.

Children's games will be held at the Old School Grounds on the hour from 12 noon until 5 o'clock. A walking tour of the hamlet will be conducted around noontime, including two "loops" of the main area.

Saturday, July 12, promises to be an outstanding day observing Kipsbergen, but should also prove to be an enjoyable one for those who make their way to Rhinecliff to join the local folk in this celebration.

Does a Ring Prove He Popped Question ...?

By Abigail Van Buren

1975 by Chicago Tribune
N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: About four months ago, my boyfired asked me to marry him. He is in the service and is stationed in an ther state.

I have not seen him since he popped the question, so I haven't received an engagament ring yet, although we did set a date for our wedding.

A friend of mins

A friend of mine says that a girl is not really engaged unless she has a ring. She has never had a boyfriend and seldom gets asked out, so maybe she said that out of jealousy.

Still, I would like to know for sure. Does a girl have to have a ring in order to be officially engaged?

ALMOST MARRIED

DEAR ALMOST: A girl doesn't need a ring to be officially engaged. Although you haven't seen him for four months, I presume that you are in touch with one another. Has he questioned the pop since he popped the question?

DEAR ABBY: Please give us your opinion of this very important family matter.

My mother-in-law passed away, and about two hours after the funeral services, her youngest son went to play golf. (He is 50-years-old.)

My husband, an older brother, said he was so hurt that his brother showed so little respect for their mother's memory that he will never forgive him.

What do you think?

CALIFORNIAN

DEAR CALIFORNIAN: How much respect the younger brother showed his mother while she was alive is more important than how long after her funeral he waited to play golf. Everyone handles his grief in his own way.

DEAR ABBY: Let me say first that I am the mother of three and happily married, and have not the slightest desire to attract any man other than my husb husband.

I always wear pantsuits to work because I think they are more modest than dresses. I would stop wearing makeup and shave my head if it insured keeping my male coworker's minds off my feminity and on my ability to do my job.

In other words, I do not want to be viewed as a sex object. My friends and I have adopted a poem as our slogan. It was written by a 12-year-old girl:

Please don't walk in front of me.
I may not want to follow.
Don't walk behind me.
I may not want to lead.
Please, walk beside me and be my friend."

Any man who demands that a woman display her body for him to ogle, and that she be young and have a good figure or suffer his scorn, can never be a friend.

Greg Luzinski Makes All-Star Voters Look Silly

By FRED McMANE
UPI Sports Writer

Greg Luzinski is making the All-Star voters look mighty silly.

The husky outfielder of the Philadelphia Phillies is currently the brightest star in the National League but is only a burning ember in the eyes of the fans. In the latest balloting for the NL All-Star squad, Luzinski didn't even rank among the top 12 among the outfielders, even though he is currently the major league leader in home runs and runs batted in.

Luzinski, who hit his 22nd homer of the year on Saturday, increased his runs batted in total to 72 Sunday when he drove in four to lead the Phillies to an 8-6 triumph over the New York Mets.

The fact that his deeds have not been recognized by the general public may disturb Luzinski somewhat, but he tries not to show it.

"I'm glad the All-Star voting is over," said Luzinski Sunday after singling home two runs in the third and doubling home two more in the fifth. "Now people will stop asking me about it."

Surrounded by stars like Dick Allen, Larry Bowa, Dave Cash and Mike Schmidt, Luzinski has perhaps not gotten as much publicity as he deserves. But his performance at the bat has been extraordinary thus far, especially for a man who missed most of last season with a knee injury.

His ability to hit in the clutch has been especially outstanding. Sunday, for example, Allen homered in the second inning and when the Phillies put runners on second and third in the third inning, the Mets elected to pitch to Luzinski instead of Allen. Luzinski responded with a two-run single to boost the Phillies lead to 3-0. In the fifth, after the Mets had tied the score on a three-run homer by Rusty Staub, Luzinski came through with a double to score two more runs.

"With the three guys in front of me getting on base all the time, there's no place to put me," Luzinski said modestly. "And the way Dick's been swinging the bat, I guess they don't want to test him."

"They can't walk guys in this lineup to get to somebody else," Phils' catcher Bob Boone added. "I enjoy watching them squirm."

In other National League contests, Los Angeles beat San Francisco 5-1, Cincinnati crushed San Diego 13-2, Houston defeated Atlanta 6-2, Montreal edged St. Louis 4-3 and Pittsburgh bombarded Chicago 18-12 in the first game of a doubleheader. The second game was rained out.

In American League games, Detroit took a doubleheader from Milwaukee 7-5 and 11-2, Texas swept a doubleheader from Minnesota 4-2 and 7-0, California blanked Oakland 2-0, Chicago defeated Kansas City 9-3, Boston defeated Cleveland 5-3, then lost 11-10, and New York topped Baltimore 6-1 in the opener of a doubleheader. The second game was postponed by rain.

Dodgers 5, Giants 1

Doug Rau pitched no-hit ball for seven innings, then settled for a three-hitter in hurling the Dodgers to victory over the Giants. Chris Speier spoiled Rau's no-hit bid with a single to lead off the eighth inning and two hits and a sacrifice fly by Bobby Murcer in the ninth ruined his shutout attempt. Steve Yeager drove in three runs for Los Angeles with a pair of singles and Bill Buckner had a home run.

Reds 13, Padres 2

Pete Rose, Ken Griffey and Joe Morgan scored nine runs and collected eight hits between them to spark the Reds to victory over the Padres. Rose and Morgan led the 16-hit attack with three hits apiece as Cincinnati posted its 34th triumph in its last 43 games.

Astros 6, Braves 2

Pitcher J.R. Richard allowed only four hits in 6 2-3 innings and drove in a pair of r uns with his first homer of the season and a single to lead the Astros over the Braves. Greg Gross and Enos Cabell also drove in two runs each for Houston.

Expos 4, Cardinals 3

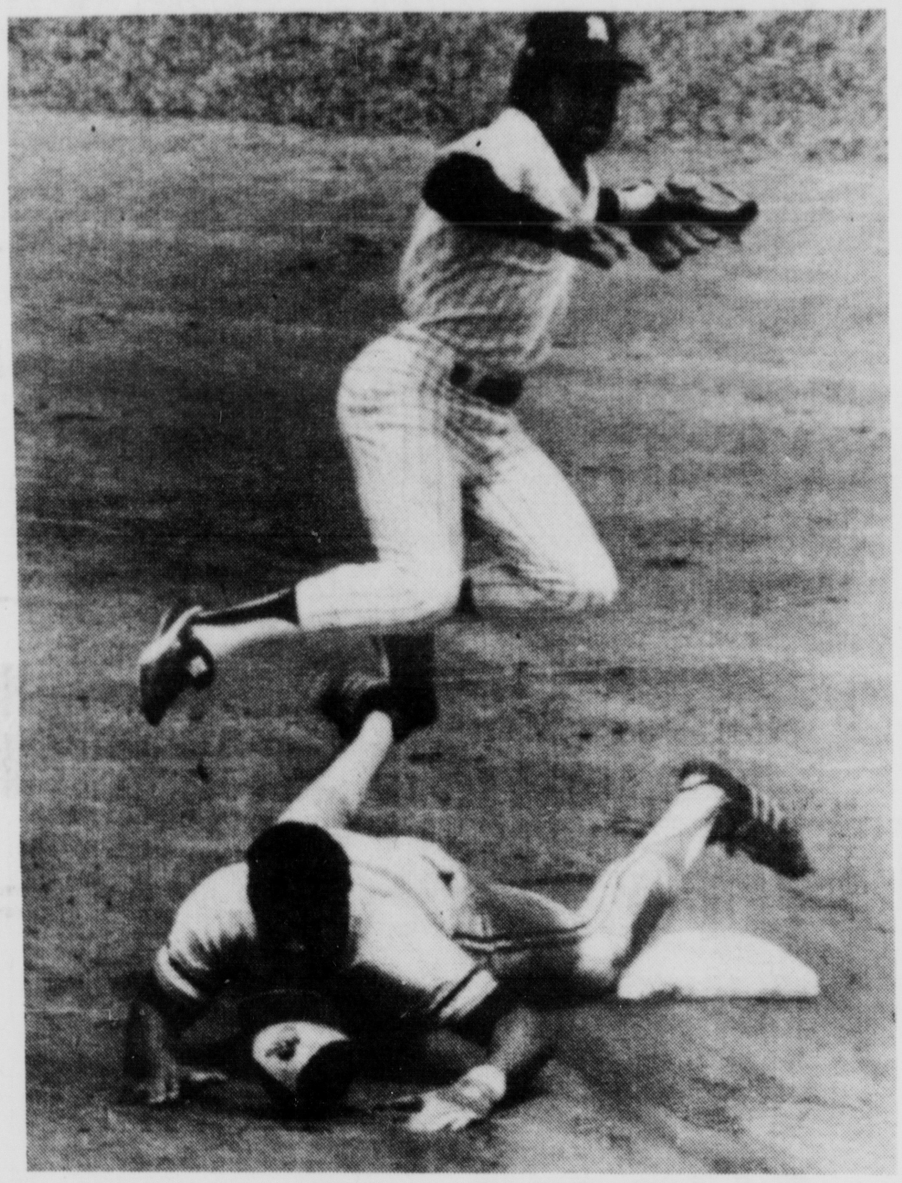
Mike Jorgensen's two-run homer and a run-scoring single by Pete Mackanin in the eighth inning enabled the Expos to defeat the Cardinals. Jorgensen's homer tied the score in the eighth and Mackanin delivered his game-winning hit after singles by Barry Foote and Gary Carter.

Pirates 18, Cubs 12

Willie Stargell and Al Oliver each collected four hits to spark a 20-hit attack that paced the Pirates' triumph over the Cubs. Stargell, Dave Parker, Rennie Stennett and Bob Robertson each homered for Pittsburgh while Jerry Morales and Rick Monday connected for Chicago.

No Place Like Home Plate

Mets' Rusty Staub (10) is greeted by teammates Joe Torre (9), Felix Millan (17) and Ed Kranepool after hitting 3-run homer, scoring Torre and Millan. This tied score in 5th inning but Mets lost 8-6. (UPI)



Upset at Second

Baltimore's Don Baylor upset Sandy Alomar at 2nd base to break up double play possibility on Al Bumbry's grounder to Yankee shortstop Fred Stanley in first inning of Sunday game at Shea Stadium. (UPI)

Yankees Happy to Settle for One

By FRED DOWN
UPI Sports Writer

One of the favorite stories told about former Nea York Yankee pitching great Lefty Gomez concerns the time when he was managing Binghamton in the Eastern League.

It seems that the team was going so bad that one night Lefty tossed a victory party when a game was rained out.

Manager Bill Virdon was pretty much in the same position Sunday when the Yankees defeated the Baltimore Orioles 6-1 in the first game of a scheduled doubleheader and then had the second game rained out. At least, Virdon and the Yankees had that first-game victory. Enough is enough, the way the Yankees have been going in recent weeks.

Actually, a party was somewhat in order, inasmuch as the Yankees survived the weekend only one game behind the Boston Red Sox in the American League's Eastern Division race and still 3 1-2 games ahead of the fourth-place Orioles. Not too bad for a team which had lost seven straight games just when it appeared ready to make its long-awaited move for a division title.

Pat Dboson pitched a seven-hitter for his ninth victory and Roy White's two-run double sparked a four-run third inning outburst which carried the Yankees to their victory. Mike Cuellar, wild all over the plate, suffered his sixth setback against six victories for the Orioles.

The Cleveland Indians defeated the Red Sox 11-10 after a 5-3 loss, the Detroit Tigers scored 7-5 and 11-2 victories over the Milwaukee Brewers, the California Angels topped the Oakland A's 2-0, the Chicago White Sox downed the Kansas City Royals 9-3, and the Texas Rangers swept the Minnesota Twins 4-2 and 7-0, in other American League games.

In the National League, it was Houston 6 Atlanta 2, Montreal 4 St. Louis 3, Cincinnati 13 San Diego 2, Philadelphia 8 New York 6, Los Angeles 5 San Francisco 1, and Pittsburgh 18 Chicago 12. Fans in Chicago were spared watching the second game of the doubleheader by a merciful rain.

Red Sox 5-10 Indians 3-11

Bob Heise, who started the game with a .175 average and only six RBI's, drove in three runs to lead the Red Sox to their victory. Bill Lee, aided by Dick Drago's 1 2-3 innings of shutout relief, raised his record to 10-6. Rico Carty homered for the Indians. Homers by Oscar Gamble, George Hendrick and Boog Powell led the Indians in the nightcap. The crowd of 58,781 in Cleveland was the largest of the major league season.

Tigers 7-11 Brewers 5-2

Mickey Lolich went 8 1-3 innings to raise his record to 10-5 as the Tigers took their opener with the help of three hits by Willie Horton. Homers by Aurelio Rodriguez, Ben Oglivie and Dan Meyer led a 16-hit Detroit attack which earned Lerrin LaGrow his fifth victory in the nightcap. Angels 2 A's 0

Dave Chalk drove in both California runs with singles and Dick Lange, Andy Hassler and Don Kirkwood combined in a six-hitter to give the Angels their triumph over the A's. Vida Blue pitched a five-hitter and struck out eight but suffered his sixth loss compared to 12 wins.

White Sox 9 Royals 3

Bucky Dent's two-run double sparked a four-run second inning and Claude Osteen pitched a six-hitter for the White Sox, who are still 11 games behind the A's despite their recent spurt. Marty Pattin was the loser for the Royals.

Rangers 4-7 Twins 2-0

Clyde Wright pitched a sixhitter and Toby Harrah hit a two-run homer for the Rangers in the first game while Gaylord Perry, aided by homers by Jim Fregosi and Harrah, won his first game in a Texas uniform with a seven-hitter in the second game.

Lauda Holds Wide Prix Lead

LE CASTELLET, France (UPI) — Austria's Niki Lauda held a comfortable 22-point lead in the world drivers championship standings today after winning yet another Formula One automobiile Grand Prix race.

Lauda, 26, led from start to finish behind the wheel of his Ferrari 312 T in the 54-lap French Formula One Grand Prix Sunday while Argentina's Carlos Reutemann, second to Lauda in the standings, finished 14th in his Brabham BT44 and did not improve on his 25 points. The nine points for the victory gave the Austrian a total 47.

Lauda said he next plans to practice in Monza, Italy, Wednesday and Thursday before seeking his fifth Formula One win of the season two weeks from now in the British Grand Prix at Silverstone.

Besides his win at the Paul Ricard circuit near this Southern French town, the curly-haired, big-toothed Austrian has taken first place in Monaco, Belgium and Sweden. In his last Grand Prix, however, he took second place to Briton James Hunt in a Hesketh in Zaandvoort, Holland.

It was Hunt who came the closest to upsetting Lauda's domination of Grand Prix events, steadily gaining on him in the second half of Sunday's race after running third in the first four laps and dropping to fourth in the fifth and sixth laps.

Hunt, 27, trailed by 6.5 seconds at the halfway mark in the 194.61 mile race, but closed the gap to 1.5 seconds by the finish before some 60,000 spectators under sunny skies.

"I was driving as fast as I knew how," Hunt said after the race. "Though I managed to close the gap to two seconds as we went into the last lap, I just couldn't do it. I had another problem because (West Germany's) Jochen Mass was threatening me at the same time."

Mass finished third ahead of his McLaren teammate Emerson Fittipaldi of Brazil. The West German broke the official lap record, clocking 1:50.60 for the 3.61 mile circuit.

Fifth in a recently built Parnelli was Italian-born American Mario Andretti, of Nazareth, Pa., who had to overcome 14 other drivers positioned better than he was in the grid and notably South Africa's Jody Scheckter in a Tyrrell-Ford, who dropped from second place at the start to ninth at the finish and slowed everybody down in the process.

Lauda said after his victory, "In the opening laps I had a cushion from Hunt because Scheckter was holding the others up. When Hunt got by I had to drive flat out all the way to the finish.

"Hunt tried very hard at the end, but I had it worked out to stay ahead."

Asked if he had any pre-race strategy, the Austrian said simply, "to win."

Andretti said afterward he was happy with his fifth-place finish.

"The only thing I needed was 20 more horsepower," the 35-year-old former Indianapolis 500 winner said.

NIKI LAUDA AND GARLAND OF VICTORY

The Call from Susie

WHEELING, W. Va. (UPI) — The folks back home in Beaumont, Tex., were a little incredulous when they got the call from Susie McAllister Sunday.

But Miss McAllister wasn't insulted. After four years on the LPGA tour, she also was beginning to wonder if she'd always be the bridesmaid and never the bride.

But hard, steady play—and a refusal to let her caddy tell her her position until the 18th hole —led her to her first tour victory by one stroke in the 2nd annual $40,000 Wheeling LPGA Classic on the Speidel Golf Course at nearby Oglebay Park.

Her four-under-par, 72-70-70—212 total earned her $5,700. Jan Ferraris of Palm Springs, Calif. took home $4,170 for her three-under-par second place finish.

Miss McAllister broke the news of her win to her family very gently.

"I called home like I usually do and my aunt said, with not too much emotion, 'how'd you do?,' Miss McAllister recounted.

"I said, 'Ah, well, I won,' and they couldn't believe it. They're so used to my telling them what happened because I've been so close that they really couldn't believe that I'd won."

Miss McAllister said she had been close to taking it all four or five times this year, but something always happened to knock her out. So this tournament, apparently afraid of jinxing herself, she ordered her caddy not to tell her how she was doing.

She entered the final round three strokes behind Karolyn Kertzman, who had led throughout the tourney.

Miss McAllister's caddy managed to keep quiet when Miss Kertzman four-putted for a double bogey six on the 12th hole and into an eventual-third place finish, moving Miss McAllister into a tie with Miss Ferraris.

New Sprint Standout With U.S. Junior Track

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI) — The American men's junior track team, bolstered by Florida sprint sensation Houston McTear, surprised few here in beating the Russians for a third time in a dual meet.

But the American women's team, an 18-point loser a year ago at Austin, Tex., turned that around this weekend in the two-day meet, scoring a 30-point victory and allowing the Russians only two first place finishes.

The American standout was Brenda Morehead, a 17-year-old graduate of Toledo, Ohio, Scott High School, who set meet records in the 200 and 100 meters and ran one leg of the record-setting 440 yard relay.

Miss Morehead, who will be a freshman at Tennessee State in September, won the 100 meers in a record 11.4 seconds and duplicated the feat in the 200 meters on Saturday with a 23.2 clocking.

The American women also set records in their two relay events, taking the 440 yard relay in 44.8 seconds and the mile relay in 3:37.9.

Nebraska's Nancy Kindig won the five-part pentathlon dominated by the Russians a year ago. She won two of the five events and finished 181 points up on second place Galina Zhilo of Russia, who finished with 3,737 points.

McTear, who tied the 100-yard dash world record at 9.0 seconds in May, tied the American-Russian dual meet record in the 100 meters at 10.2 seconds and ran the first leg of the 440-yard relay, which also tied the meet mark of 39.6 seconds.

The American men, who won 14 of 23 events, defeated the Russians, 129-105, while the U.S. women's team scored 11 first place finishes of 13 events and defeated the Russians, 88-58.

The American men snapped two meet records and tied three and the Russians broke two records and tied one.

Darrell Elder, the Southern Cal freshman from Martin City, Calif., broke the meet discus record on his first try in the circle, raising the standard by 10-feet, 2-inches with a heave of 192-8.

Paul Jordan of Philadelphia broke the meet mark in the triple jump, with a leap of 53-9, eclipsing the old mark by four inches.

The Russians' Vladimir Kiselev set the meet record in the shot put with a throw of 61-1 and Ivan Gromov established the record in the javelin with a heave of 254-1.

The Russians also won the decathlon with 6,835 points. Anthony Hale of the United States placed second with 6,744 points.

American Nine Eliminated

KYSERIKE

The Kingston Americans were eliminated in the second round of the Junior Babe Ruth tournament at the Rondout Valley High School field Sunday when relif pitcher Joe Kelderhouse, who had held Beacon scoreless for three innings, balked home the winning run in the eighth inning of a 5-4 game.

Keldrehouse had taken over for Jay Foust in the fifth frame after Beacan had taken a 4-2 lead. He checked the Dutchess squad in the fifth, six and seventh while his team rallied to tie the contest with a pair of runs in the sixth.

Singles by Ken Merritt and Jim Flanagan produced the two Kingston runs in the sixth when Beacon first baseman Greg Ferrone fielded a grounder by Tom Rundle and threw wildly to third in an attempt to get Merritt.

Brad Rivenburg and Tim Sullivan clipped Kelderhouse for singles to start the eighth. Kelderhouse, however, picked Sullivan off for one out. Rivenburg moved to third on an infield out and was awarded home when Kelderhouse made an illegal move on the mound.

Kelderhouse had earlier helped himself get out of a bases loaded jam in the fifth with another pickoff.

Beacon took advantage of some control problems by Foust to take the lead in the fourth by scoring two runs without a hit. Four walks and a couple of passed balls led to Foust's removal.

Kingston scored first in the game as Steve Costello belted an RBI single in the opeining inning. An American error in the second allowed Beacon to tie it at 1-1, then the Americans went ahead again on Aike Mercier's sacrifice fly in the home half.

Sullivan and Ferrone combined singles in the third to pull Beacon into a 2-2 tie.

Brian Doremus gave up seven hits and went all the way to get the victory for Beacon.

Americans Lag In Henley Cup

LONDON (UPI) — The Potomac Boat Club of Washington gave the United States its only win in Sunday's finals of the Henley Royal Regatta, taking the Stewards' Cup for coxless fours by virtue of a 2 1-3 length victory over Lady Margaret, Cambridge.

Potomac clipped five seconds off the 10-year-old course record for the event, finishing in six minutes and 50 seconds.

Jim Dietz, the New York Athletic Club's silver medalist in the world championships, failed in his fifth attempt to lift the Diamond Sculls' title. Dietz, 26, upset at not being selected by the seeding committee, failed to stop Irishman Sean Drea from winning a third successive Diamonds' title.

Drea, from Dublin's Neptune Club who attends St. Joseph's College in Philadelphia, went into a three-quarter length lead at the half mile, and won by 2 1-3 lengths in 7 minutes, 56 seconds.

Harvard University's heavyweight crew trailed the British National eight from Leander-Thames Tradesmen in the Grand Challenge Cup, the blue ribbon event.

Harvard, unbeaten until it arrived in England two weeks ago, raised its rate to 48 but could not stop the British crew from winning by two lengths in 6 minutes, 16 seconds.

Greimel's: Surprise Winners

SAUGERTIES — The second weekend of Mid Hudson Soccer Association action reinforced some of the trends begun on opening day, but there was one notable turnaround in the National Division.

Greimel Enterprises, blown off the field a week ago with a nine goal defeat at the hands of the Port Ewen A.A., came back to post a surprising 4-1 win over Maennechor behind the pinpoint passing of Dan Maurier.

In other National results, Port Ewen settled for a 2-2 tie with Oscar's Tapers and Garraghan Oil blasted Marcel, 6-0.

In the Yankee league, Virginia Chemical continued to roll with a 3-1 win over the Kingston Travel Center, SAA Bluestone nipped the Rhinebeck Braves, 1-0, and the SAA Iroquois and Yallum's fought to a 2-2 tie.

The Kingston Sport Club and the Rotary Dolphins grabbed the first place spots in the Metropolitan and Colonial Divisions respectively. KSC blanked Vin's Mobil, 2-0, and the Dolphins kept their perfect defensive record intact with 4-0 win over the SAA Dutchmen.

Other Metro-Colonial scores had Chick Dalton Memorial a 4-0 winner over Court Restaurant, Rudy's Meat Market a 1-0 victory over Dawkin's Insurance, and West Penn a 2-1 winner over Sunshine Castle.

Maurier, a young midfielder for Greimel, quarterbacked his club to their big comeback. He consistently took the ball from his defense and started offensive thrusts with his sharp passing. He assisted on all four of his team's goals as the smaller Greimel team evened its record at 1-1.

In another National Division highlight, Walter Streib of Garraghan raised his league leading goal total to five with a pair of scores in the Oiler's 6-0 romp.

Baker and Lent Lead U.S.Open Indian Golf

MONTICELLO, Utah (UPI) — Lou Baker and Ronny Lente — both from Albuquerque, N.M. — won top honors this weekend at the second annual U.S. Indian Open golf tournament.

Baker, an Osage-Creek, fired a 69 Sunday and finished the 54-hole tournament with a top gross score of 213. Lente, an Isleta-Pueblo, had the best net score, 183.

Eighty-five Indian golfers from 35 tribes across the United States played in the three day tournament at the San Juan County Golf Course.

Floyd James, a Yavapai-Hopi from Clarkdale, Ariz., and Tom Almojula, a Squamish from Sunnyvale, Calif., tied for overall second place with gross scores of 218.

Other gross leaders were last year's champion, Dennis Burr, a Mandan of Bismarck, N.D., at 219; Reginald House, a Menominee from San Diego, 224; and Jim Issues, a northern Cheyenne from Albuquerque, 231.

Johnny G. Smith, a Chemehuevi-Hualapai from Provo, Utah, was second in net scoring at 184 followed by Jake Antone, A Souix from Mission, S.D., 188; T.O. Traversie, A Cheyenne River Souix from Rapid City, S.D., 191; and William McClosky, a Rosebud Souix from Rosebud, S.D., and Tom Lovell, a one-fourth Navajo from Delta, Utah, both at 193.

Cycle Victory

FRANCORCHAMPS, Belgium (UPI) — Johnny Cecotto, Venezuela's young motorcycle ace, dueled for three quarters of an hour with Walter Villa of Italy and Michel Rougerie of France only to pull ahead in the last lap to win the 250cc event at the Belgian motorcycling Grand Prix.

King and King

Men's Singles Champion Arthur Ashe dances in the early hours Sunday with women's singles champion Billie Jean King at the Lawn Tennis Association Ball at Grosvenor House following the Wimbledon Tennis Championships. (UPI)

Ashe: Connors Choked

WIMBLEDON (UPI) — Arthur Ashe, playing one of the most intelligent tennis matches ever seen in the 99-year history of Wimbledon, and Billie Jean King, turning her final major singles competition into an emotional triumph, ruled today as the top players of the game.

Ashe, in scoring his 6-1, 6-1, 5-7, 6-4 victory over Jimmy Connors on Saturday, ended, at least for the time being, Connors' total domination of the men's scene.

Ms. King captured her sixth Wimbledon singles crown with an astonishingly easy 6-0, 6-1 rout Friday of former queen Evonne Goolagong Cawley.

Connors, the defending champion and conqueror of Rod Laver and John Newcombe in the Las Vegas shootouts, had been an out favorite to retain his crown, but Ashe, who in a dozen years had never come so far in the world's foremost tennis event, took command at the outset and wrapped up the match in two hours and four minutes.

There is no love lost between the 22-year-old flamboyant Connors and the rather staid, quiet American black. Multi-million law suits are in litigation between the two, based on Connors' charges of restraint of trade and libel. When the match was over, with the capacity throng delighted at Ashe's victory, the two men shook hands quickly, but did not speak.

Ashe, in his exuberance after the award ceremonies, made a remark which he may regret at a later date, for Connors has a long memory.

"I think he choked," said Ashe.

When the comment was relayed to Jimmy, he bridled, then snapped, "I do not choke, my friend. I came here with my head high, and I leave with my head high and I'll be back with my head high."

Ashe had planned his match well, and he blunted the power of Connors' game with accurate service and deadly volleying.

Mike McWeeney Hurls Babe Ruth One-Hitter

KINGSTON — Mike McWeeney allowed only one hit and John Guzewich had a perfect day at he plate as J&G Drywall routed Accord-Alligerville Fire Companies, 7-3, in the Kingston Senior Babe Ruth League.

In the Rondout Valley League, Davenport's checked Johnny on the Spot, 8-4, in a game halted by darkness after six innings.

McWeeney struck out 12 and walked only one, but J&G errors helped Accord to three runs. Guzewich knocked in four runs with a triple and three singles. Dave Kronick had two hits for the winners. Jerry Shaver accounted for the lone Accord hit. It was a 2-1 ballgame until J&G rallied for five runs in their last two turns at bat.

Earl Little led Davenport's with three singles and was the winning pitcher. Pete Barley added two hits.

Former Mafioso Gives Version of Killing

NEW YORK (UPI) — A former member of a Mafia gang told a New York Times reporter it was probably a member of reputed Mafioso Joseph Colombo's own gang that had him shot in Columbus Circle.

Peter 'Pete the Greek' Diapoulas, a friend and associate of Joseph Gallo, a breakaway member of Colombo's 'family,' told Times reporter Nicholas Gage, "I was as close to Joey (Gallo) as anybody and he swore to me he hadn't set it up. If he had done it he would have boasted to us about it..."

He said the Gallo faction did its own investigating of the shooting four years ago and concluded that Tony 'Abby' Abbatemarco, a 'soldier' in Colombo's gang was responsible.

Colombo was shot in the head, allegedly by a black man named Jerome Johnson who was immediately shot to death. Colombo was totally incapacitated for life.

Diapoulas said Abbatemarco was angry with Colombo for "squeezing money from him, and he hated Joey because Joey had killed his father..."

At the time it was thought Gallo was bringing blacks into his gang and Diapoulos said that if a black shot Colombo, Gallo would be blamed.

Diapoulas, 43, joined Gallo, whom he knew in high school, 15 years ago when the 'Gallo War' began. Since then both sides have been sporadically at war.

When Joe Gallo was shot to death in a restaurant three years ago, Diapoulas was shot in the thigh. Afterwards he served a year in jail for possession of an unloaded gun. When he got out, he went back to the Gallo gang but no longer had much enthusiasm. Albert Gallo, Joseph's brother was boss.

"I saw how things were," Diapoulas said. "Blast (Albert Gallo) looking for Number 1 all the time and the others thinking they're all Jimmy Cagney. So I took off."

Diapoulas now lives in hiding fearing his former asociates will kill him if they find him.

Paltz Budget Trimmed

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz School Board will receive a revised budget of $4.95 million tonight, pared by about $130,000 from the original $5.083 million 1975-76 budget defeated in early June.

The pared budget will be submitted to the voters once again July 17. Registration is being held daily and on July 12 between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. at the board office.

Administration submitted proposed budget cuts to the board following a May 26 public meeting at which residents suggested areas in which expenditures could be cut such as interscholastic sports awards and reduction of field trips and conference travel expenses.

The interscholastic athletic budget has been cut and more paring in that area is expected before the revised budget goes before the voters.

Changes in budget revisions were made during a recent six-hour meeting of the board to consider administrative recommendations. Among changes were reinstating library book expenditures and adding funds for girls' track and softball. Among deletions was $7,000 from the substitute teacher's budget.

Defeat of the original budget was blamed on the general economy with Dr. James Hicken noting that the usual voter turnout is 700 or 800 and that 1,455 turned out at the polls. Many of the voters were senior citizens.

In other business the board reelected Seigfried G. Bart Jr. as president and Mrs. Richard T. Ordway as vice president. Schunk and Torraca were designated as counsel for the school district and Frank A. Hamilton, assistant superintendent, was reappointed clerk of the board and central treasurer. Mrs. Estelle Wilson was named collector of taxes and auditor and Mrs. Mabel Cuthbert was named district treasurer. Bart was reappointed chief fiscal officer and Dr. Hicken, director of continuing education.

Hinchey Set As Speaker

STONE RIDGE

Assemblyman Maurice D. Hinchey (D-101st District) will be the guest speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Marbletown Democratic Club on Monday, July 14, at the Marbletown Town Hall in Stone Ridge.

Hinchey is slated to speak at 8:30 p.m. following a business meeting which begins at 7:30 p.m.

The meeting is open to the public, according to Joseph LaFera, town Democratic chairman.

Volunteers Battle 'Suspicious' Fire

ESOPUS

About 50 volunteer firemen capped their holiday weekend with a five-hour fight against an Esopus barn fire Sunday night, termed "suspicious" by Esopus Chief Ronald Bruck.

Three firemen suffered minor injuries, including fire policeman Joe Benuti who was struck by a passing car while directing traffic on Floyd Ackert Road. The car, said Bruck, "kept right on going."

State police investigators from Highland are checking into the cause of the fire that destroyed a two-story barn on property owned by a Mrs. Light.

At its height, the flames from the blaze could be seen five miles away in the night sky, said Bruck. When the companies arrived, the barn was completely engulfed in flame, he reported, with the structure partially collapsed.

A nearby garage was already burning, but was saved after several hours of pouring water on the roof and sides. Esopus received assistance from Highland with a tanker, while Port Ewen stood by.

The house on the property was occupied by John Smith and "several other people," said Bruck, none of whom were home at the time. The barn was seemingly empty, he added. There was an unconfirmed report that there were some 50 rabbits inside the barn. Firemen worked from 10:13 p.m., Sunday to 3:13 a.m., Monday.

And a stakeout by village police in Saugerties resulted Sunday night in the arrest of two local 16-year-old youths for third degree burglary at St. Mary's Church, Cedar and Post Streets.

Police said the money boxes had been robbed several times during the past month. Sunday night surveillance found the two teenagers illegally entering the building, they said.

Village Justice David Goble remanded the pair to Ulster County Jail in lieu of $1,000 bail each for court reappearance Tuesday night.

Schlesinger Explains Stand On N-Weapons

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary James Schlesinger says the United States might be the first to use nuclear weapons in the case of "major aggression," but only if U.S. or allied forces were overwhelmed.

Even so, he suggested Sunday, limited tactical weapons would probably be called for — not massive bombing of population centers.

In a televised interview (ABC's Issues and Answers), Schlesinger said his remarks last week that the United States would not rule out a first nuclear strike should be viewed in the context of a major conventional military confrontation.

"There is the residual possibility that in the event of major aggression against the United States and its allies that the United States may have to employ nuclear weapons," Schlesinger said, "but the thrust of our policy has been in the other direction, to attempt to raise the nuclear threshold rather than to lower it.

"Only in the case of major aggression in which there was the threat or the reality of the overwhelming of conventional forces would nuclear weapons have to be employed."

He added that tactical nuclear force would be used initially if needed, and that the major powers would then have "very powerful incentives to suppress the conflict before it became destructive."

But asked whether there was increasing danger of nuclear war, Schlesinger said, "I believe that the answer to that is that for major nuclear conflict the answer is unequivocably no.

In another area, Schlesinger said the possibility of war in Korea reached a peak during the American evacuation of Indochina, but it has subsided in recent weeks.

"I think the fall of Vietnam, which caused the reverberations all around the world, led to some view that the United States might be collapsing in Asia and that this might be an opportunity for North Korea to complete what it started in 1950," he said.

"I think that they have recognized that the United States forces and commitment to Korea remain strong and I believe they will continue to be deterred from any outright aggression."

'That Son-of-a-Gun Is Going to Hit Us'

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) — The trainload of tourists could see Mt. McKinley in all its glory around a bend in the track. One passenger looking back spotted a freight train approaching fast.

"I could see the freight coming behind us and thought at first it was on a side track," the passenger, who asked not to be identified, said. "But I'd ridden this train before and knew there was no side track, and I said to myself, 'That sonof-a-gun is going to plow right into us.'"

Sixty-three persons were injured, two seriously, in the collision between an Alaska Rail Road passenger train and a freight train Friday 168 miles from Anchorage.

Arthur K. Williamson, of Hemet, Calif., was listed in very serious condition at the Elmendorf Air Force Base Hospital. Priscella Affeld, whose home town was unavailable, was in serious but improving condition.

"Everybody helped out and there was no panic anywhere," said Mrs. Marjorie Lach, of Buffalo, N.Y., who was vacationing in Alaska with her husband.

The most serious injuries occurred in the dining car, where diners were knocked to the floor, passengers said.

Six military helicopters ferried the injured out of the mountains after the crash. An Air Force pilot said one passenger car of the government-run train was crumpled.

Federal transportation safety officials were trying to explain one mystery from the crash.

D.L. Allen, assistant general manager of the Alaska Rail Road, said the freight left for Anchorage ahead of the passenger train, yet somehow the freight worked way behind the passenger train even though most of the right of way has only a single track.

Former SS Colonel Is Dead at 67

MADRID (UPI) — Otto Skorzeny, a former SS colonel who led some of the most daring German commando raids in World War II, died during the weekend, an undertaker said today. He was 67.

A spokesman said Skorzeny died at his home Saturday of bronchial cancer.

Skorzeny spent several months in hospital during the winter and spring with what he described as a pulmonary complaint. According to Spanish press reports, he underwent surgery in Italy before returning to Madrid a short time before his death.

Skorzeny, a Viennese engineer, rose to the rank of Obersturmbannfuehrer (Colonel) in Adolf Hitler's dreaded SS and became chief of his personal bodyguard.

His special wartime assignments included the rescue of Italian dictator Benito Mussolini from a prison fortress after his overthrow by the Italians in 1943.

Sailing in silent glider planes, Skorzeny led a paratroop assault on the mountaintop fortress and freed Il Duce. The dictator was later recaptured and executed by Italian partisans.

Leading his spies in American uniforms, Skorzeny took his men through American lines during the Battle of the Bulge late in 1944. His orders were to capture Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, but the mission failed.

After the war, Skorzeny was tried by an allied court at Dachau on war crimes charges, but was acquitted.

He eventually settled in Spain where he went into the export-import business and became a correspondent for right-wing West German newspapers.

He repeatedly denied reports that he was involved in an international neo-Nazi network called Die Spinne (the Spider).

A Different Breed . . .

New York cab drivers have been depicted as a gruff rough-looking breed; but 19-year-old Mary Reyes, of Brooklyn, is out to prove this stereo-typing is all wrong, at least in her case. At left, the pretty cabbie applies make-up during a lull in work Sunday; at right she has a happy smile for the passing photographer. (UPI)

Russian Missile Station Constructed in Somalia

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Soviet Union has constructed a facility in the East African nation of Somalia to supply missile-bearing submarines cruising the Indian Ocean, Sen. Dewey F. Bartlett, R-Okla., has concluded after a personal inspection trip.

Bartlett made his observations public Sunday in a hastily called news conference in his Capitol Hill office. He said his trip "absolutely confirms" Defense Secretary James Schlesinger's claims before Congress that the Soviets were building a support complex in Somalia which was 95 percent completed.

Another inspection group, headed by Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., arrived in Mogadishu, Somalia, Saturday and was expected to return to the United States today.

The Somali and Soviet governments have denied Schlesinger's claims, but Bartlett said he and his 10-man team of experts saw missile bunkers, dollies and crates clearly of Soviet origin.

He said the installation at the port city of Berbera was not a missile base, but a handling, refueling and storage facility for Soviet surface-to-surface missiles with a range of 20 to 30 miles.

Schlesinger used pictures of the installation to support his bid for a $15 million expansion of the U.S. air and naval base on the British-owned Indian Ocean island of Diego Garcia. Congress votes on the approriation request later this month.

According to the Defense Department, the missile complex will soon supply Soviet submarines and surface ships with missiles, fuel and other supplies.

"Our trip absolutely confirms this contention," Bartlett said. "The facilities we saw were of Soviet design; Soviet construction techniques, material and equipment were used; there were a substantial number of Russians in the area despite attempts to remain hidden for the most part."

Bartlett's team was allowed to examine and photograph a fuel facility, barracks area and a Russian ship. They were forbidden to photograph a communications receiver site, transmitter site or the actual missile facility.

Bartlett said the Russians "obviously" control a long-range communication receiver and transmitter site.

"In addition, common sense, coupled with our observations indicates that the Soviets have access to a significant missile handling facility and will soon have access to a major airport. Collectively these and other facilities, not previously known to us, represent a significant capability," Bartlett said.

He said he would report his findings immediately to the Senate Armed Services Committee, on which he is the ranking Republican, and to Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who asked him to make the trip.

CIA Scheme Led to Killing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Central Intelligence Agency encouraged a 1970 scheme aimed at sparking a coup in Chile, but the plot unintentionally resulted in the assassination of Chilean army commander Rene Schneider, the Washington Post said today.

Schneider was fatally wounded Oct. 22, 1970, by assailants who had sought to kidnap him as he was being driven to his office in Santiago, the newspaper said. They shot him when he appeared to be trying to draw a gun.

The Post said the kidnaping attempt, two days before the Chilean Congress ratified Salvador Allende's election as president, was staged in hopes it would lead to a military takeover that would prevent the Marxist from assuming office.

The newspaper quoted informed sources as saying Schneider had been "on what amounted to a worldwide (CIA) 'enemies list' of individuals considered inimical to U.S. interests. But the agency, sources said, did not intend his assassination..."

The Post said it could not be established whether the CIA provided any "concrete assistance," such as money, to persons behind the Schneider kidnap attempt.

"Sources indicated that the agency expressed its approval and encouragement of the idea," the newspaper said. "However, whether this encouragement amounted to an explicit directive to go ahead or whether the plotters acted on their own is not known."

The Post quoted one source as saying there was no intention by the agency or others to assassinate anyone.

Schneider had said the army would respect the decision of the voters. But some extreme right-wing elements advocated military intervention after the election to stop Allende's inauguration.

Allende was overthrown in the September, 1973, coup that resulted in his death.

The select Senate committee investigating U.S. intelligence agencies meets again in closed session Tuesday, with alleged assassination plots still on top of the agenda.

Stick to Hardline

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union has decided to stick to its hardline stand on trade and emigration despite the recent visit by a group of U.S. senators.

A Soviet press commentator said Sunday attempts by the United States to link trade and emigration will harm political as well as economic relations between the two countries.

Yuri Kornilov, commentator for the Tass news agency, criticized the United States for "attempts to impose on the Soviet Union all sorts of terms as so-calked payment for the removal of barriers on trade."

Kornilov said moves to tie trade benefits with the easing of emigration restrictions "cannot but be determinental to the common cause, not only in the field of trade and economic reelations but also in the political field."

Fourteen U.S. senators discussed trade and emigration with Communist party leader Leonid Brezhnev last week, but reported no change in the Soviet stand on the issue.

Jewish activists told the visiting senators in private meetings that restrictions on emigration had tightened in recent months.

A separate Tass commentary accused Sen. Henry Jackson, D.-Wash., of trying to block economic cooperation between the two superpowers.

Jackson led the congressional battle to link trade benefits for the Soviet Union to easing emigration restrictions on Jews and other minorities. The Kremlin responded by shelving the 1972 trade pact with the United States.

Kornilov said opponents of detente had been particularly active recently in the United States and denounced "bellicose statements" of Defense Secretary James Schlesinger about "the hackneyed Soviet threat myth."

Western diplomats said the Soviet Union's public hardline stand did not rule out a more moderate position in private.

Strike in Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (UPI) — Argentine workers launched a crippling, nationwide strike today despite a last-minute cabinet resignation aimed at heading off the two-day walkout.

Thousands of workers began walking off their jobs around the country at midnight Sunday in a dramatic showdown with President Maria Estela (Isabel) Peron.

The General Labor Confederation, Argentina's AFL-CIO, ordered the general strike in spite of the mass resignation Sunday night of all eight cabinet ministers.

The ministers said the move would give Mrs. Peron a free hand in dealing with the worst crisis in Argentina since the return to civilian government more than two years ago.

An official communique said Sunday night the ministers and their undersectretaries presented their resignations to "facilitate the political and economic solutions...the president considers necessary."

Mrs. Peron did not immediately accept the resignations, however, and the cabinet members stayed on the job for the time being.

Commuter train and bus service halted at midnight in Buenos Aires. The streets emptied rapidly except for private cars and a few taxis heading for home.

The city's late-night theaters, movie houses, restaurants, bars and coffee shops closed their doors early and employes rushed for the last buses before midnight.

The strike was called to protest Mrs. Peron's economic austerity program, which reduced giant wage increases won by unions in collective bargaining.

Workers said the hikes of up to 130 per cent are needed to keep pace with inflation officially running at more than 100 per cent for the past 12 months.

Mrs. Peron issued a tough wage decree June 28, restricting salary hikes to a flat 50 per cent for all industries. The move touched off widespread worker protests and eroded Mrs. Peron's support among organized labor.

Wenzl Is Elected

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The Civil Service Employs Association, representing about 147,000 state workers, has elected Dr. Theodore C. Wenzl to his fifth two-year term as president.

The official results of the mail ballot were to be made public today. However, it was reported Wenzl won by "a substantial margin."

His opponents were Thomas McDonough, a clerk in the Department of Motor Vehicles in Albany, and Ethel Ross, a Supreme Court employe in Brooklyn.

Gerald Purcell, a printer with the Office of General Services in Albany, was a write-in candidate.

William McGowan of Buffalo was elected executive vice president, defeating A. Victor Costa of Troy and Victor Pesci of New York City. Dorothy MacTavish of Albany, secretary, and John Gallagher of Syracuse, treasurer, were reelected.

Correction

A man arrested July 3 for third degree burglary gave an incorrect home address to Kingston Police, it was reported today. Theodore Pugliese listed his address as 196 Clinton Avenue. It should have been 184 Hurley Avenue, said police today.

The Coleman Bros. Shows, featuring a "Million Dollar Midway," will open tonight at Dietz Stadium in Kingston. The carnival will remain in town through Saturday, with gates opening at 6 p.m. on weekdays and at noon on Saturday. A special family night will be featured Wednesday. The 40th annual appearance in Kingston of the carnival is sponsored by Excelsior Hose Company.

New Rights For Patients

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court, with its senior justice absent two-thirds of the term, put off several major issues until next fall but did carve out some new rights for students and mental patients.

Justice William O. Douglas, who suffered a stroke last New Year's Eve, managed to sit on the bench only a few days during the spring before returning to the hospital. But he cast votes in most cases, and expects to return to the court when it opens a new term Oct. 6.

Douglas' absence had an impact. A test case on the constitutionality of capital punishment was postponed for decision until next term, probably because the justices are closely divided on the issue and preferred that Douglas attend the weekly conference where decisions are discussed.

Another postponed issue was whether the federal govenment can set minimum wage and overtime standards for state and local government employes.

Douglas' health could become a major issue next fall, with increasing demands that he resign if he cannot participate fully in the most critical rulings.

High school students won a significant victory in the last term with a decision carving out minimal procedural rights before a student can be expelled or suspended. At the very least, Justice Byron R. White said, administrators must give a student a chance to defend himself before he is sent home.

In a companion case, students were given limited grounds to sue school administrators if such rights are violated.

A unanimous court also said states cannot force the mentally ill into institutions against their will unless they are a danger to themselves or others.

Environmentalists, who are often poorly financed, lost a major case when the Supreme Court ruled it is up to Congress to specifically permit courts to award legal fees when environmentalists win suits against major industries.

Blacks won the right to collect back pay in most circumstances when an employer has discriminated against them. But southern cities which come under the 1964 Voting Rights Act were given some hope they can annex predominantly white suburbs even if the impact is to reduce the political power of inner city blacks.

The four court members appointed by Richard M. Nixon generally remained a powerful bloc, voting together in about three-fourths of the 150 cases decided by written opinion. Justices Potter Stewart or Byron R. White often joined them to form a majority.

For Tuesday, July 8, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't conclude an important matter in haste or anger today. Allow yourself ample time to study all the available alternatives.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're a bit too flexible in your thinking today. You're likely to provoke someone who's equally firm about his idea.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Keep a close rein on your budget the next few days. Expenses you didn't allow for are apt to pop up. You could be caught short.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you expect others to cooperate today, be tactful in framing requests. A demanding attitude will produce opposition, not aid.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't blame others for your shortcomings today. Chances are if you're saddled with a problem, it's one of your own making.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) To avert hard feelings later, spell out now what's expected of everyone in any involvement you're putting together with friends.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You hope to achieve something important in the next few days, but it won't be a snap. Don't let a few obstacles dishearten you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) To avoid unnecessary frustrations today, be prepared to make prompt changes in your plans if they don't work as well as you'd hoped.

SAGITTARUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Don't do business today with one with whom you've had a bad experience. You may be taken again if you're not careful.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be on guard in legal and partnership matters today. Get expert advice before committing yourself to agreements or contracts.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Nothing will be gained by shoving aside immediate responsibilities. Set a schedule early in the day. Stick to it.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Shun temptation today and tomorrow, if there's a choice between spending for immediate pleasure or paying off an old obligation.

Your Birthday

July 8, 1975

You will make several important changes this year to take you along paths you've never trod before. They can be very advantageous if carefully thought through.

Jean Adams TEEN FORUM

By Jean Adams

TWO NOS: (Q.) I've known David for 11 years. He's 17 and I'M 16. He asked me to go out with him twice but both times I said no because I never realized how much I like him. Lately he's been ignoring me. I don't know why.

I wrote him a note asking him why and he wrote back this dumb note saying he wasn't ignoring me. How can I let him know that I like him a lot and that I wish he would ask me out again? — READY NOW IN MASSACHUSETTS

(A.) Lots of boys have a rule that if they ask a girl out two or three times and she says no every time they don't ask her again It is a good rule and I endorse it. It keeps a girl from being pestered by a boy she isn't interested in and it keeps a boy from being hurt or appearing foolish.

Write David a note telling him you are sorry if you gave him the wrong impression about liking him and hope he will call you again some time. This will let him know how you feel. The rest will be up to him.

\- - -

FUNNY BOY: (Q.) My older brother has this friend named Christopher. He comes over often. My sister and I go into hysterics when we see him. We don't mean to be rude — he just strikes us as funny. After he leaves our brother hits us and curses us. We dont know what to do. — CURSED IN CONNECTICUT

(A.) Your brother should not be rough on you, but you should not be rough on his friend, either. He and Christopher are entitled to respect and decent treatment when they are visiting together.

You and your sister seem to be standing on the sidelines and making jokes at their expense. This is not necessary. When Christopher comes over say hello to him and then leave him and your brother to themselves. This should stop the blows and the curses. If it doesn't talk to your parents about it.

Free Bid Shows Nothing Extra

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Oswald: "A king of hearts lead followed by perfect defense would beat two diamonds one trick. After the three of spades lead, there was no way left to beat the contract and South scored 40 below the line."

Jim: "East pointed out that the kind of hearts should have been led, but never got around to the nitty-gritty. It just never occurred to him that West should have bid two hearts."

Oswald: "Had West bid two hearts he would have played there. Four odd would make after a diamond lead, but it is impossible to bid all games. West would have been very happy with 60 below and 60 above the line."

Jim: "It seems East and West were victims of the "free-bid" syndrome. Somehow or other they had been taught that when an opponent intervened in the auction an immediate bid over his overcall showed substantial extra values."

Oswald: "In expert circles today the free bid is not given any such meaning. It merely says that the free-bidder would have bid without the interference."

Ford's Formal Announcement Expected Sometime This Week

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford plans to formally announce his 1976 candidacy in the next few days, according to aides. The only remaining question is how and where he will do it.

The announcement plans were being made today as Ford prepared to meet six governors on the subject of distributing federal highway trust funds. The meeting coincided with a presidential message to Congress proposing a shift in the distribution system.

Ford, the appointed vice president who rose to the presidency nearly a year ago on the resignation of Richard Nixon, has indicated by organizing a campaign committee and filing with the Federal Elections Commission that he intends to run for a full term.

But he has repeatedly stopped short of an official declaration.

Several White House officials said Ford probably would make the announcement before leaving Friday on a three-day swing through Michigan and Chicago. There were indications it might even happen as early as Tuesday.

One aide said the President has received some suggestions he declare his candidacy in a nationally televised address.

But he predicted Ford more likely would take "a low key approach" in view of the advance publicity. Another aide said the issue of a television announcement had not been resolved.

The President's meeting with the governors ended a long July 4 weekend of golf and swimming in the White House's new heated pool, which he tested Saturday during his daughter's 18th birthday party.

The weekend also included a July 4 speech at Ft. McHenry and three hours of talks with Indonesia's President Suharto at the presidential retreat at Camp David, Md.

A spokesman said Ford intended to brief the six governors on his congressional message, which will propose a shift to a "bloc grant approach" for distribution of money in the federal highway trust fund that is used to help state and local governments build and maintain major roads.

He said Ford's plan was intended to give state and local officials more flexibility in deciding how to use federal aid.

Ford also will recommend "some revision in the federal gasoline tax program," the spokesman said, but he declined to provide details. He said only that the proposed change would deal with the ways of allocating revenues rather than any increase in the taxes themselves.

The six governors were Robert Ray, R-Iowa, chairman of the National Governors Conference; Calvin Rampton, D-Utah; Arch Moore, R-W.Va.; Michael O'Callaghan, D-Nevada; Robert Bennett, R-Kans., and Philip Noel, D-R.I.

Practicing Their Russian

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — For three U.S. astronauts, today was yet another day of language lessons —in preparation for a planned rendezvous in space with two Soviet counterparts in less than two weeks.

It also was a day for astronauts Thomas Stafford, Donald K. "Deke" Slayton and Vance Brand to rehearse critical parts of the mission and to be briefed on experiments they will have to handle.

The Soviet-American mission is scheduled to begin in eight days.

Besides dry runs of part of their nine-day mission, Air Force Brig. Gen. Stafford and his two civilian spacemates planned more Russian language sessions and a briefing on experiments to be carried out during history's first space rendezvous of astronauts from two nations.

Everything is in readiness for the dual mission scheduled for July 15 when Soviet cosmonauts Alexei Leonov and Valeri Kubasov blast off from the cosmodrome at Baikonur at 7:15 a.m. EDT, to be followed at 3:50 p.m. by the takeoff of the Americans from Cape Canaveral.

The Saturn launch rocket and the Apollo spacecraft have passed final tests. The astronauts, in training for over a year, took a day off for the July 4 holiday but were back at work Saturday and Sunday.

All three took rides in T38 jet trainers from Ellington AFB near Houston Sunday morning, zooming through aerobatics to sharpen their flying skills for the space maneuvering ahead. Sunday afternoon they studied Russian, which they will speak alternately with English during the mission.

The only problem which has turned up is a leak in Brand's spacesuit. It was considered minor since there was plenty of time to fix it. It showed up during last week's dress rehearsal in the Apollo at the launch site —and would have caused a delay had it been launch day.

The American and Soviet space teams will carry out 27 experiments during the mission, including studies of X-ray sources inside and outside the galaxy, measurements of aerosol content of the upper reaches of the earth's atmosphere, and of the effects of spaceflight on the human immunological system.

'Nixon Harassed Mayors'...Alioto

BOSTON (UPI) — The U.S. Conference of Mayors was harassed by former President Richard Nixon's administration, conference Chairman Joseph Alioto said today.

"Watergate and related actions of the Nixon administration reached even into political investigations and political harassment of your national organization, the U.S. Conference of Mayors," Alioto said in prepared remarks.

"While public records do not reveal the extent of this secret, undercover operation, other records suggest that the Conference of Mayors was a serious target on the Nixon enemy list," Alioto said.

He said the Nixon White House had directed a financial audit of the conference's books, specifically investigating its expenditures for implementing the recommendations made at its yearly gathering.

"In another case," he said, "agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, acting under orders from the Criminal Division of the Justice Department, investigated the Conference of Mayors."

"While we do not know who specifically ordered the investigation, it is important to remember that orders regularly were being developed inside the White House at that time to develop lists of ememies, and as we all know, a 'we' and 'them' paranoia then raged within the Nixon administration," he added.

He said the investigations of the mayors conference was conducted under a 1940s statute under which a group such as the mayors had never been prosecuted.

Gas Hikes Will Be Probed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — While holiday vacationers were paying 3 cents a gallon more for gasoline, two senators promised hearings within two weeks to find out why gas producers hiked prices just in time to catch the summer travel rush.

Sens. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., and Adlai Stevenson, D-Ill., said Sunday "the public has a right to know and the Congress has a responsibility to find out how this massive Fourth of July squeeze play on the consumer took place."

Jackson is chairman of the Senate investigations subcommittee. Stevenson heads an oil and gas production subcommittee. They said joint hearings would be held "within two weeks" on reasons behind the sudden jump at the pump.

Ralph Nader charged that "the public is being misled by oil industry and Ford administration explanations of the summer vacation time increases in the price of gasoline."

He asked Jackson and Rep. Harley Staggers, D-W.Va., chairman of the House Commerce Committee, to investigate.

The oil companies said Ford's recent imposition of another $1 import tax on foreign oil caused the price increases. But Nader said the companies were taking advantage of the foreign hike to increase prices of domestic oil, and were not increasing domestic production.

Jackson said, "Clearly, the oil companies have manufactured a shortage through manipulation of refinery output so they could raise retail gasoline prices as much as 7 cents a gallon during the season when vacationing Americans buy more gasoline." Stevenson and Jackson chared that when crude oil costs dropped this year because of plentiful supplies, refiners apparently cut back production to create an artificial shortage, justifying higher prices.

"It appears the gasoline inventory and pricing situation is a clasic study in the power of the major oil companies to reverse the normal rules of supply and demand," Stevenson said.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., cited similar suspicions last week and announced the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee would hold hearings this year into the possibility of "market manipulation" by major refiners.

New Design For Coin

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Beginning today, the 50-cent piece is no longer what it used to be. But this time inflation is not to blame.

The Mint, on orders of Congress, is putting special bicentennial designs on coins. The first to be converted is the half dollar, with a picture of Independence Hall —where the Declaration of Independence was signed —replacing the American Eagle.

The coin should be available in most banks today. By law, the bicentennial coins could not be placed in public hands before July 4.

SAY "YES" TO THE CALL
Within a few days your phone may ring and th pleasant voice you hear will be a member of the A. H. Wicks Engine & Truck Co. Inc. or one of their high school or college helpers. They will be asking you to help sponsor some of the less fortunate and deserving children in the area to their annual presentation of the International All-Star Circus.
"SAY YES"
We Take great pride in bringing to our area the International All-Star Circus, one of the greatest fun-filled 90 minutes, ever for your family pleasure. Additionally, we are looking forward to providing an opportunity for the less fortunate and deserving children in the area to participate at no cost to themselves or their schools—in the traditionally wholesome American experience of enjoying a real, live circus performance. Your help to defray the cost of these admissions would be greatly appreciated by our organization, as full 50% of the profits from them will go toward our scholarships for deserving young adults—but more important—your help will be appreciated by hundreds of children who would not ordinarily have this opportunity.
SO PLEASE SAY "YES"
Just put your name on the Special Passes which will be mailed to you, and return them with your check. A group of deserving children in our community can attend the circus with your compliments. The big show will be on Tuesday, Sept. 2nd at 7:30 P.M. Show place to be announced.
WE THANK YOU FOR YOUR SUPPORT!
